Mick sleeps with Hayley!

THE SLATER GIRL CREATES MERRY HELL AS SHE MAKES AN UNWELCOME RETURN TO WALFORD...

EASTENDERS | BBC1 TUESDAY

Hayley Slater returns to Albert Square this week, and the locals are less than pleased to see her – as she causes a scandal at every turn!

Fearing her cousin is intending to get her claws into Martin again, seething Stacey is the first to have her feathers ruffled by Hayley's reappearance. But it soon transpires that Hayley has bigger fish to fry, when she ends up spending the night in Mick's bed – and the pair are awoken by a furious tirade from his wife Linda! As Linda wastes no time in hurling Hayley out on her ear, will the shameless menace have the nerve to stick around?

"The front of this woman – just what the hell does she think she's playing at?" splutters our EastEnders spy. "Nobody is happy about Hayley's return to Walford, and she seems to go out of her way to upset anyone who crosses her path. But messing with Mick is a step too far – and not even Hayley can style it out after Linda walks in to find the girl tucked up in bed with her husband!"

CHEAP AT HALF THE PRICE

This scandalous altercation with the Carters comes at the end of a week in which Hayley rubs up more than one Walford resident the wrong way. The moment she surfaces again, Hayley is told to go by Stacey – who's still jealous about the close bond which developed between Hayley and her estranged husband Martin. But rather than heed her relative's warning, Hayley has other problems to deal with – and brazenly unpacks a pile of her stock on the ground in the middle of Bridge Street Market, hoping to flog them for a fast buck...

"It's a brave woman who crosses the fearsome market traders!" remarks our sneak.

"They pay good money for their precious pitches, and work their socks off in all kinds of weather to make ends meet. They're annoyed that Hayley has the cheek to just rock up with no official licence for selling her stuff – but she couldn't care less!"

Ironically, it's fruit and veg stallholder Martin who leaps in to defend Hayley when the market crew turn on her – whisking her into the café to protect her from their wrath. That's red rag to a bull for Stacey, who again makes it clear to Hayley that she's not welcome – but the Slater newbie is blasé and insists that Martin is old news because she has a boyfriend now. However, something suggests that Hayley's life isn't all as she makes it out to be...

"If Hayley has another man on the go, why on earth does she want to be in Walford?" questions our insider. "It's clear that something isn't right when her takings are stolen – and on her uppers, she waits until everyone but Jean is out so that she can give her sob story and wrap her relative round her little finger. Of course, it's no time at all before gullible Jean is inviting Hayley to stay on – but Kat and Stacey are having none of it once they find out, leaving indignant Hayley out in the cold again."

TAKING THE MICK

While she plots her next move, Hayley bumps into Stuart – Halfway's big brother and Mick's childhood mate – who invites her to join him in the Vic. There, she causes even more trouble as she locks horns with Donna, who's still miffed about the chaos Hayley caused on the market the day before. Robbie is forced to wade in and break the warring women apart, but the night takes another nosedive when Hayley turns her attentions to landlord Mick...

"Not surprisingly, it all gets a bit boozy in the pub," sighs our informant. "Mick, Halfway and Stuart are all downing drinks – and feeling so happy about being reunited with his old pal, Mick gets a bit carried Kat and Stacey leave Hayley out in the cold again!"

Hayley is rejected by her family and robbed by a stranger...

...but things start to look up when Stuart befriends her away. The landlord ends up passed out on his bed – and Stuart suggests that Hayley tuck herself in beside him! He's intent on making trouble between Mick and Linda, and luckily for him, Hayley takes little persuading."

It's unclear why he's so keen to stir the pot between the Carter pair, but Stuart's ruse goes to plan! Linda returns from visiting her mum Elaine and is spitting feathers after she finds her man in bed with another woman. Mick doesn't know what's going on when he awakes to his wife letting rip – but it's Hayley who comes off worse, as Linda manhandles her out of the Vic and makes it clear that if she comes back, she'll regret it.

However, as Hayley stumbles into the Square with Linda's words ringing in her ears, will she call it quits and leave – or take another unsuspecting local for a ride instead?

STU PLOT

Can Halfway's big brother be trusted?

Mick couldn't be more chuffed to be reunited with his old mucker Stuart this week, but he's unaware that his mate is trying to cause trouble for him. Is Stu just having a laugh, or are his intentions more sinister?

So far, all we know about Stuart – played by Ricky Champ – is that he and Mick were born and raised together in the East End. His appearance in Walford ties in with Halfway's return from military duty, and the trio waste no time in catching up. However, Stuart looks set to scupper their happy reunion with his questionable behaviour...

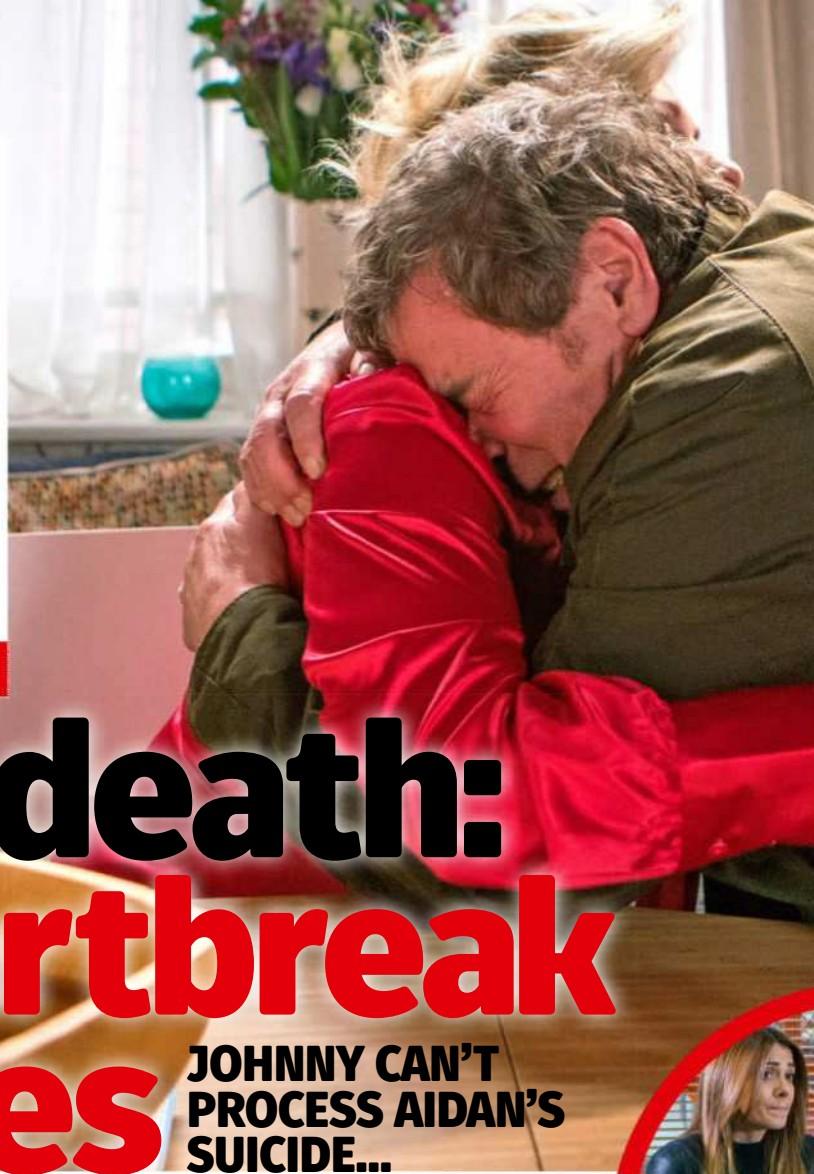

Why he wants to be messing with Mick and Linda's marriage is anyone's guess. But after Halfway drunkenly confesses to his sibling that he's been lying to Mick, Stuart doesn't offer his sheepish little brother any support – and instead suggests that he get out of town before Mick finds out what he's done!

However, with alcohol giving him courage to speak up, Halfway eventually tells Mick everything. And it's Mick's reaction to the big announcement which prompts Stuart to plant Hayley in Mick's bed.

But why's he so keen to cause trouble? And how will Mick react when he works out what his supposedly great friend has done?

Aidan's death: The heartbreak continues

PROCESS AIDAN'S SUICIDE...

Distraught Johnny struggles to cope in the aftermath of Aidan's suicide, leaving those who love him desperately worried.

Unable to make sense of why his beloved son would take his own life, Johnny insists the family goes to Aidan's flat to search for clues as to his motives. But when they get inside, Johnny is overwhelmed by the horror of the situation and has a panic attack. His wife Jenny tries to support him, but she can't connect with her heartbroken husband – who instead turns to close friend Liz...

"Johnny's world has been torn apart, and he's in a very dark place," says our Corrie insider. "His pain is too much to handle, and he's consumed with anger, lashing out at Jenny at every turn. Nothing will ever be the same again, and Johnny doesn't know how to live with what's happened. The only person who can get through to him is Liz."

Inside Aidan's flat, there is plenty to sort out – and it falls to Michelle and Carla to handle the difficult task. Like Johnny, they are distraught and wonder how Aidan could have felt so alone, when they all loved him so much. After they look through the paperwork in the flat, Michelle calls the family together. She hands over a letter addressed to Johnny, who cautiously opens it – and on seeing his son's writing and realising how he must have felt to write his goodbye, Johnny breaks down. The next day, Liz spots him in the pub and invites him to have a private chat in the back room of the Rovers. It's only then that Johnny feels able to open up.

"It all comes spilling out," shares our Street spy. "He tells Liz how he hates himself for failing Aidan and how Jenny is getting on his nerves. Sadly, when Johnny gets home later, Jenny tries to get him involved in a campaign young Summer is organising in memory of Aidan. It leads to an almighty row, and Johnny goes off the deep end."

As the tensions boil over, Johnny storms out to crash on Liz's couch. Can she help him through this terrible ordeal?

“Johnny doesn't know how to live with what's happened – only Liz can get through to him”

AIDAN'S LAST SHOCK

The family is upset by his wishes...

Stunned Michelle finds Aidan's will this week – and it could change everything!

Shocked, she confides in Robert, who can't believe the contents of the papers. It's a painful moment when she eventually shows Carla, Kate and Jenny what Aidan planned. Of course, Aidan was the sole owner of Underworld since Carla signed over her share to him as a 'thank you'. Reason suggests it should pass to family, but did Aidan choose another option? Might he have made a change to his will after realising little Susie was his daughter? And how will the Connors react to the news if he did?

The signs were there

While for many Aidan's suicide came out of the blue, star Shayne Ward and producer Kate Oates reveal there were a few indications of his state of mind...

THE LETTER

"There was an episode some time ago where, after discovering that Carla needed a kidney, Aidan went to Johnny's house and intercepted a note he had sent," says Kate. "Basically, Aidan was planning on doing it that night, but decided not to, as he felt he had to hang on for Carla's sake. There was that letter, and we'll see that again..."

THE BREAKDOWN

"After the kidney transplant, Aidan sent Kate and Johnny home from the hospital, and then he broke down," says Shane. "That was the first time you saw him really cry. People wondered what was wrong, and thought that perhaps something had gone wrong with the operation..."

THE UNPACKED BOXES

"In Aidan's flat, we have the unpacked boxes," says Kate. "Kate saw them and said to him, 'When are you ever going to unpack?' – but of course, he was never going to unpack, as he was always going to be in that headspace. So how is Kate going to look at those boxes now?"

Ross wants to track down Simon and make him pay

EMMERDALE | ITV THURSDAY

Ross demands answers!

HE'S DETERMINED THAT SIMON WILL PAY FOR WHAT HE'S DONE...

Vengeful Ross renews his quest to bring his attacker to justice this week, following the recent collapse of Simon McManus' trial.

"Ross is feeling incredibly frustrated," reckons our Emmerdale source. "He'd psyched himself up for the court case, and was confident that he would at least have some closure to this whole nightmare. But instead, he's still looking for answers, and Simon remains a free man."

Ross quizzes Moira about what she knows about Simon, but before he can find out anything particularly useful, Cain comes into the room and interrupts their conversation. However, Cain is worried that Moira might already have said too much, and that Ross is bound to work things out sooner or later...

"Cain just wants to make sure that his daughter Debbie is protected," reasons our snitch. "Her involvement in the acid attack is dangerously close to going public – and the more Ross keeps sniffing around, the more likely it becomes that Debbie will be incriminated. So Cain decides to warn Ross to leave Moira alone – but this makes Ross feel even more agitated."

When Cain confronts Ross, the pair end up in a heated argument. During the scuffle, Ross' facial conformer mask is nudged, causing him to cry out in pain. The commotion alerts Moira, who wants to know what's going on.

"Poor Ross is getting really suspicious about the way everyone is acting around him," elaborates our sneak.

Ross is getting really suspicious about how everyone is acting...

Will Ross learn the truth from Moira, or will it remain a secret?

Cain surprises Moira on their fourth anniversary...

Cain and Moira mark their fourth wedding anniversary this week – and Cain surprises his wife with a very romantic gesture...

"Despite their troubles, Cain is determined to celebrate his and Moira's anniversary in style," says our Dales spy. "He's still deeply in love with her, and wants to show how much she means to him."

It's been four years of mixed fortunes for the couple since they wed. Although they've had son Isaac together, Moira has faced an HIV scare, lost her daughter Holly to a heroin overdose, and was responsible for the death of psycho Emma Barton.

On top of that, Cain had an affair with Charity, while Moira filed for divorce and had a fling with Pete.

"Maybe there have been more downs than ups!" chuckles our insider. "Frankly, it's quite some achievement that they're still here to tell the tale."

As the evening of her and Cain's anniversary arrives, Moira is thrilled when her husband asks her to exchange rings again, in order to echo their original wedding ceremony. It's the perfect romantic night – but how long can the calm last?

"He just wants answers! It's becoming painfully obvious that people are deliberately trying to keep him in the dark. Moira feels so torn, as she knows how much pain Ross is in. Will she cave in and tell him what he wants to know?"

Whether or not Moira buckles, it's clear that Ross is not going to give up on his search for Simon – so is it only a matter of time before he discovers the awful truth about Debbie's actions?

Laura-Jayne snoops behind the big soap headlines...

Sneak PREVIEW!

Heartbreaking scenes lie ahead in Walford when the residents gather for murdered Shakil's funeral.

EastEnders bosses announced some weeks ago that the soap is to tackle the harrowing subject of knife crime, in a story that will see Shakil and best mate Keegan attacked by a gang of youths. All the signs, including pictures of his distraught mother Carmel, indicated that Shakil wouldn't survive the assault – and now, these sombre images of Kush alongside his brother's coffin surely confirm the lad's fate...

"It feels more important than ever to raise awareness of this terrible crime, and how horrendous it is for teenagers, their families and communities," said Square boss John Yorke in March, after revealing that the show would be working with former EastEnders star Brooke Kinsella (Kelly Taylor), who tragically lost her brother Ben after he was fatally stabbed in 2008. "These episodes are powerful, heartbreaking and dramatic – while making it clear that knife crime destroys the lives of everyone it touches."

The anguish written across the faces of the locals attending Shakil's funeral is plain to see, with the likes of Kat, Sharon and Louise deeply affected by the shocking events that have unfolded on their doorstep.

However, no one looks more ashen than poor Kush – who faces the unimaginable task of burying his younger sibling. There are no clear images of Carmel but, rather curiously, Kush is flanked by two mystery men that some are suggesting to be his estranged father, Umar, and brother Darius. Walford bosses are staying tight-lipped on that rumour, but Shakil's funeral certainly feels like the right time – sad as it is – to introduce the lad's missing relatives. The story is expected to unfold later this spring.

CORRIE SECRETS REVEALED!

Boss Kate Oates lifts the lid on the Street's sizzling summer...

PHIL AND HOLLY'S COBBLES CAMEO!

Two very familiar faces are to join Corrie, when This Morning hosts Phillip Schofield and Holly Willoughby make their soap debut! "It's a bit of fun as part of Rosie's exit storyline," Kate told Metro.co.uk. "Phil and Holly will play themselves, and we're kind of replaying a trick we've used before, as Rosie has been on TV shows in the past. It's great comedy!"

JIM'S FURY!

Jim McDonald will return to Weatherfield with a right cob on – setting the stage for an explosive reunion with ex-wife Liz and son Steve! "He is coming back with a lot of resentment towards Steve," explains Kate. "From Jim's point of view, he has been rotting in prison and no one cares."

JOSH'S DOOM!

David will find it tough to prove Josh raped him, but the soap gods will make sure the attacker gets his just deserts. "David got rid of all the evidence, so I believe the perpetrator wouldn't be convicted," says Kate. "David will get catharsis and some acknowledgement, but he might not get it legally. In soap, a lot of justice often comes from the community."

BET TO RETURN?

Last but certainly not least, Kate has hinted that a big comeback could be on the cards for the Street's original blonde bombshell – Bet Lynch! "I bet Julie [Goodyear, who played her] would be great on the show," she grins. "If the story fitted, why not? She was definitely considered a modern day icon, and still is."

DEATH IN THE DALES!

The Grim Reaper claims a fresh victim...

Emmerdale will kick off the summer in spectacular style when a disaster strikes the village – and it will result in the death of one of the local residents!

Tragedy strikes this week after Doug attempts to fix a structural issue at the B&B rather than call in an expert (see p42 for our interview with Duncan Preston), setting off a dramatic chain of events that will change the village forever...

"We're remaining tight-lipped about exactly what's going to happen, so the audience can watch the drama as it takes place on screen," an Emmerdale spokesperson tells Inside Soap. "It's safe to say that what occurs that day in the B&B will have ramifications for some of our characters for the rest of their lives..."

The identity of the doomed local is being kept under lock and key by bosses, but plenty of our favourite villagers are in the frame. Of course, the most likely candidates to be caught up in the chaos are Doug, Diane and Pollard, who all work at the B&B. Meanwhile, Lachlan and Belle are secretly planning to open a bar within the establishment, but their plan is blown out of the water when Gerry unwittingly gives the game away. And with Gerry having also discovered the damning voicemail that incriminates Lachlan in the White family car crash, there is definitely a sense that the fellas are set to collide...

Meanwhile, Chas and Paddy's engagement party gets under way at the Woolpack, with revellers including Robert and the Barton brothers. Oddly, the bride and groom-to-be have spooked themselves silly, with Paddy convinced his relationship with Chas is cursed. So when Aaron fails to show up at the bash, Paddy can't help but worry as Chas wonders where her son is. Surely Aaron isn't the one claimed by the horrific events at the B&B? Tune in to find out!

CHARITY'S PAST REVEALED!

We'll see what happened in her childhood...

The abuse that Charity suffered as a child is to be explored in more detail through a special flashback episode. Emmerdale bosses have cast actress Mia Proctor to play young Charity in a special hour-long instalment of the soap, when time will rewind and reveal the pain, heartbreak and confusion that she felt as a young girl.

"Charity is a character with a complicated, fascinating and heartbreaking history – some of which has previously been alluded to on screen," says Emmerdale's series producer, Iain MacLeod. "We wanted to do one of our signature stylised episodes to fill in the blanks and explore the devastating, formative experiences that she went through as a vulnerable teenager – adding a massive surprise for viewers in the process."

The audience recently learned that Charity was previously raped by a policeman, Detective Inspector Bails – and may have fallen pregnant as a result of the attack. Charity is adamant that she doesn't want to pursue the matter legally, but will continue to open up to her supportive girlfriend, Vanessa. Watch out for the episode when it airs on 29 May.

We'll go back in time to find out what happened between Charity and Bails Daddy's home!

Aw! Long-time fans of Neighbours are going to love this snap of Ramsay Street legend Alan Dale – who played one of the show's original characters Jim Robinson – visiting the studios recently and being reunited with on-screen son Stefan Dennis, who plays Paul. It's brought us so much untold joy, we can't tell you!

After playing mortal enemies in Corrie, stars Connor McIntyre (Phelan) and Les Dennis (Michael Rodwell) will play the ugly sisters in a production of Cinderella at the Opera House later this year. Oh yes they will!

Shona is determined to see vile predator Josh brought to justice

CORONATION STREET | ITV MONDAY

David's prison hell – as Shona investigates Josh!

CAN SHE SAVE HER BOYFRIEND BEFORE HE SELF-DESTRUCTS?

David's stretch in jail gets off to a terrible start this week, after he violently lashes out at his cellmate!

It's a bad move on the part of the tortured fella, who was sent down after failing to show up in court following his brutal assault on Gary. However, the truth of the matter is that David is feeling more vulnerable than ever as he struggles to cope with life on the inside, while his rapist Josh walks free...

"The injustice of David's imprisonment is crippling for him," sympathises our Street insider. "Sure, his attack on Gary was inexcusable and no judge in their right mind would ever have allowed David to go unpunished. But we as viewers – and thankfully now Shona – are aware that David's actions were fuelled by his horrific ordeal. The extenuating circumstances surrounding his case are extreme, to say the least."

However, with David still refusing to talk to anyone else about his attack, Shona's torn as his solicitor Imran pushes her for details that might help the case. David has sworn Shona to secrecy, so the worst thing she could do after finally gaining his trust is to break her promise. But as Imran piles on the pressure, will Shona cave in and reveal what happened?

Meanwhile, David is on edge as he tries to navigate prison life. For all he knows, the men he's banged up with are as dangerous as Josh – so when his cellmate Paul gently tries to wake David from his slumber, Gail's nervous son snaps and shoves Paul against the wall. But could his actions cost him later on down the line if he tries to appeal his sentence?

"The only thing that David can do at this point is keep his head down and nose clean," reckons our mole. "But that's easier said than done when battling the sort of demons keeping him awake at night."

However, now David has Shona to confide in, violence doesn't have to be the answer. Shona is there to offer him support – and as she visits David in prison, she tries to persuade him to go on the record about what Josh did.

The trouble is that David is still incredibly guarded, so he's horrified when Shona admits

STAY OR GO?

Gail wants shot of Emma...

Gail has a difficult job on her hands mopping up David's mess this week, as his recent fling Emma continues to live with the Platt family – despite the fact that David has been sent to jail!

David wasn't in his right mind when he hooked up with the salon's new trainee and invited her to live with them after five minutes of knowing her. So, as Gail attempts to suggest it's time Emma moved out, will the ditzy lass take the hint?

David's cellmate means no harm, but David wakes up in a rage she has confronted Josh. When David reels from her admission and appears more stressed than ever, has Shona done more harm than good in her determination to help him?

Knowing Shona as well as we do now, she is not the sort of woman who is easily deterred. Having previously helped David's niece Bethany through her own sexual abuse ordeal last year, Shona sets off on a mission to dig for dirt on Josh – with the feeling in her gut that there's a chance the predator's attack on David wasn't his first offence.

After swiping Josh's CV from the garage, Shona goes in search of the mechanic's former employers and soon encounters one of Josh's ex-colleagues. When the guy reveals how Josh was sacked from his old job, Shona is intrigued – just as frustrated Imran tells David that his best option is to plead guilty in court for assaulting Gary.

Will Shona manage to find the evidence against Josh she needs to save David – and will her other half agree to let her help him before it's too late?

DAN IS HORRIFIED AS HE LEARNS DAZ COULD BE AMELIA'S FATHER...

Daz and Kerry have been in cahoots behind Dan's back

All hell breaks loose for the Spencers this week, as Dan finally learns that his brother Daz could be Amelia's biological father – and that Daz and Kerry have secretly organised a paternity test behind his back!

The idea that the daughter he's raised for 11 years might not be his is crippling for Dan, who has been doing his best to support Amelia in the wake of her mother Ali's sudden death. So when he accidentally stumbles across a letter containing the damning DNA results, it's a total shock – and Dan's worst nightmare...

"It really wasn't a difficult place for me to go to as an actor – when you consider finding out that a kid might not be yours after all this time, how else are you going to react?" sighs star Liam Fox, who plays Dan. "Dan will always see himself as Amelia's dad no matter what – but he is dreading the results."

Dan's discovery is shocking enough – yet the fact that his brother Daz is the other fella in the frame to be Amelia's dad serves as the ultimate betrayal, not to mention that Kerry has been in on the secret, too.

The sneaky pair went about arranging a DNA test after drunken Daz confessed to sleeping with Ali behind Dan's back. This week, the results arrive, which Kerry and Daz are forced to track down when they vanish. However, their efforts backfire after Pete ends up with the letter – and hands it straight to Dan! As the truth of his brother's treachery sinks in, how will Dan respond?

"Dan has always known the sort of person that Daz is," grumbles Liam. "They've always had a

There are fisticuffs between the Spencer siblings love-hate relationship and, although Dan never suspected for a second that anything had gone on between Daz and Ali, it's not a complete surprise that he has ended up doing something like this."

Faced with the possibility that Daz may turn out to be Amelia's father, Dan's initial response is to chuck the unopened letter in the bin. But his emotions soon get the better of him, and it's not long before Dan is retrieving the results and opening them.

"Dan's natural instinct is to stick his head in the sand, as he doesn't want it to be bad news," explains Liam. "But he can't hide from the truth, and has to hope for the best."

After Amelia's paternity is revealed, Dan unleashes all his anger on Daz and the brothers come to blows – just as Amelia returns home and demands to know what is going on! Will her world be turned upside down as we finally learn who her biological dad is?

IT'S ALL RELATIVE!

We look back at some of soap's best DNA dramas...

DNA IS SERVED!

After Walford's Roxy Mitchell slept with both Sean Slater and Jack Branning, it wasn't just turkey on the menu at the Vic that Christmas. Her cruel dad Archie served up DNA results on a platter to Sean, to prove Jack was the father of Roxy's daughter Amy – which sent Sean into a rage before he plunged into an icy lake. Ouch!

OH, BROTHER!

Hell hath no fury like Corrie's David Platt scorned, and boy did his brother Nick pay for his one-night stand with sister-in-law Kylie. David had his revenge by causing a car crash that left his sibling brain-damaged but, as it happens, the paternity test proved that David was the father of baby Lily after all. The truth hurts, some would argue.

PILLAR TO POST

When villager Vanessa ordered a DNA test to determine the father of baby Johnny, Rakesh Kotecha doctored the results to read that Adam Barton was the dad – when in fact it was his son Kirin! Both are now on the run for various crimes and misdemeanours, while single-mum-turned-lesbian Vanessa has never been happier.

Sienna finds herself at rock bottom this week, after her mysterious stalker's sinister email countdown reaches zero – and she has no one left to turn to!

She's lied and cheated her way through Hollyoaks village for years, but when the clock runs out of time, it seems Sienna is set to pay for her past mistakes...

"She's in a very bad place," sighs actress Anna Passey, who plays her. "I think the audience is quite used to seeing Sienna concoct these storylines for herself, but this time it's all legitimate. She's really scared."

The sinister gifts and emails have been plaguing her for weeks, and as her fear intensifies, Sienna decides to turn detective and investigate.

"She makes a list – it's quite pathetic, this little screwed-up bit of paper!" groans Anna. "She's thinking of all the people who have reason to hold a grudge... but it would be quicker for her to make a list of people that didn't have something against her, really!"

Sienna's paranoia leads her to the conclusion that her stalker is Darren Osborne, out for revenge – a reasonable theory, given their history! So he becomes the next target for her manic behaviour.

"Whenever I film one of those days, I make sure I've got an extra shot of espresso in my coffee!" jokes Anna. "Ashley [Taylor Dawson, who plays Darren] and I had a couple of days in Sienna's flat together, and it was such a lot of fun to play."

What happens between Sienna and Darren remains a mystery – but the moment of truth soon arrives, as the ticking timer finally hits zero. Sienna's heart skips a beat when she hears a knock at the door – so is she finally about to come face to face with her secret tormentor?

"We see something – I can't tell you what!" grins Anna. "I really love this story, it's sort

Sienna makes a list of all the people who might hold a grudge

FLOWER POWER!

Is the future looking rosy for Sienna?

Should Sienna survive this latest ordeal, we wondered if Anna would like her character to enjoy a quieter life in the village for a while...

"I've always been pitching for Sienna to get that village florist!" she chuckles. "I want to call it 'Sienna's Stalks', and I think it would be so nice. Everyone else could have their drama, and she would just be in the background with posies."

Given the number of weddings and funerals in Hollyoaks village, surely a fortune would be guaranteed for any florist setting up shop. This could be Sienna's most cunning plan so far!

Time's up for Sienna – will she find out who's been stalking her?

of like being in my own spin-off horror film and I love it."

Viewers know that there are lots more twists and turns to come in this story, as a recent flash-forward showed Joel, Cleo and various other characters attending Sienna's funeral. Surely this couldn't spell the end for our favourite long-running soap villain?

"Anything is possible!" teases Anna, with a twinkle in her eye. "I've had such a big reaction to those flash-forward scenes! If you consider what Sienna's been through, everything she's done, and the stories she's covered, it seems like she's been there a lifetime! So maybe her time is up..."

Zeelan hits out!

AFTER A BUST-UP WITH RANA, HE ENDS UP IN BIG BOTHER...

Desperate Zeelan makes a move to win back Rana this week, by proving that her new love Kate is a cheat! But when his scheme fails to work, Zeelan is finally forced to face the truth about his future – until a violent encounter changes everything...

The drama begins as the husband spies Kate hugging ex-girlfriend Sophie, and suspects it's more than just a friendly embrace. He believes that this could be his chance to split up Rana and Kate, and to convince his estranged wife to give their marriage another chance. Will his meddling manage to persuade her?

"Zeelan is so in love with Rana – he can't see anything else beyond that," explains Qasim Akhtar, who plays the devastated fella. "He thinks, 'What can I do to make Rana come back to me and leave Kate?'. So he starts digging for information about what Sophie and Kate are up to, and that's when he starts taking pictures of them together!"

Zeelan follows Sophie and Kate into town where the pair have gone for a drink, as Kate attempts to come to terms with her brother's suicide. Zeelan is trying to capture proof of a passionate moment to show to Rana, but little does he realise that she's also planning to join the girls at the bar. Rana can't believe it when she spots Zeelan snapping pictures through the window, and gives him a piece of her mind – leaving him in no doubt about the future of their marriage.

"That's when it starts to hit home for Zeelan – he's heard it from her mouth now," sighs Qasim.

"Rana has been giving him mixed signals, and that's made Zeelan feel as if it's old times again. All these things have just been building up inside – so when she says she wants a divorce, Zeelan realises he needs to open his eyes."

Following this bombshell, there's no hope left for Zeelan and the night at the bar goes from bad to worse. The girls are approached by a gaggle of drunken lads who try it on with them, and when they get too close, Sophie is forced to use a rape alarm to get rid of them. Back on the cobbles, Kate and Rana are having an intimate moment in the ginnel when one of the rowdy blokes, Phil, jumps out and grabs Kate. On hearing Rana scream, Zeelan rushes round and punches Phil unconscious. But will anyone believe that he was reacting in the moment, and not just consumed with rage due to his failed marriage?

"It's a reaction to what happens, but it looks as if he lashes out," shares Qasim, who has already filmed his final scenes on the Street. "It will look as though there has Zeelan is so in love with Rana – he can't see beyond that..."

TIME TO SAY GOODBYE!

Qasim is excited for the future...

He's had a dramatic few years in Weatherfield, but Qasim has decided to leave the cobbles and try something new – and he's looking forward to what's coming next.

"I've always been very ambitious," says the star. "I still have that fire in my belly where I want to explore and do other projects. I see so much more diversity in shows nowadays – and with the pressure shows have on them to introduce more Asian and black actors, I feel as if it's a great time for me to be out there."

We know the door will be left open for Zeedan – who'll leave grandma Yasmeen and sister Alya behind in Weatherfield – and Qasim is pleased he's not being killed off.

"I am so happy as that puts you in such a great position as an actor," he grins. "I am very grateful, – I like to believe there will always be a place for me here in the future."

Zee's orange phone case was one of many issues with his spying mission been this rage stuck inside him for so long, and that he has just let it out on the first person he thought he could."

As Kate and Rana reel from the fight and Phil lays unconscious on the ground, it's clear that Zeedan could find himself in big trouble. Will anyone believe him, and will Phil recover?

Drama at Robbo's trial!

ALL HELL BREAKS LOOSE AS THE VERDICT IS BEING DELIVERED...

There's a shock twist at Robbo's murder trial this week – as federal agents storm the courtroom and drag him away in a police van!

The poor guy is already confused, as he has no memory of the brutal crimes he's being charged with under the name of Beckett Reid. But he's left more bewildered than ever when he's bundled out of court by a bunch of armed cops...

"Just as the judge is about to read the verdict, federal agents come swooping in and take Robbo away with no explanation!" gasps Jake Ryan, who plays the accused.

"Robbo has no idea what's going on, and demands they tell him – but he doesn't get any immediate answers."

Prior to the dramatic interruption, Robbo fears he's heading for a jail sentence, thanks to his previous life as a hired killer. Tori's trying her best to help him fight the charges on the grounds of his mental instability – but when Ash takes to the stand in order to testify against Robbo, all hope seems lost.

"Robbo is shocked and angry – what Ash says on the stand makes everything worse for him," sighs Jake. "Robbo is terrified of going to jail – he'd just started getting his life together before Kat died, and now it's all falling apart. In the heat of the moment, he considers running away."

Thankfully Robbo sees sense, and heads back to court before he ends up in deeper trouble than he's already in. However, he's determined to take to the stand to tell the jury his side of the story, even if his lawyer doesn't think it's a good idea.

"Robbo pleads his case to the jury – he doesn't remember Beckett Reid," Jake tells us. "All he remembers is falling in love with Kat and trying to protect her. If the jury thinks he should pay for Beckett Reid's crimes, then he will. He just wants them to make a decision and end the waiting game."

But just when it looks as though Robbo's fate has been decided, everything changes as the federal agents swoop! What happens next is being kept a closely guarded secret – but Jake informs us that he

"Robbo just wants the jury to make a decision..."

Robbo seeks an end to the awful situation he's in considers this dramatic plot every actor's dream. "I was so excited – I love action and drama-filled scripts, and getting to play out my own court case was great," he grins. "There have been many theories about Robbo and who he is for a really long time – none of the viewers thought the story would end here. I like to think most people know Robbo is a good, genuine guy."

Flora butters up Adam!

THE SHREWD PENSIONER BONDS WITH ADAM, BUT DECLARES WAR ON SINEAD...

Moody Adam finds himself bonding with Flora this week – despite him trying to get rid of the pensioner from his home!

Adam has been sulking ever since housemate Daniel invited the old lady to come and live with them, without consulting him first. Although Daniel stresses that it's only a temporary measure until they can find a more permanent solution, Adam orders Daniel to get rid of her immediately!

"To be fair to Adam, he's not quite himself at the moment," says our Corrie sneak. "But it's no excuse for his rudeness, and Daniel quickly apologises to Flora on Adam's behalf. She's not all that bothered, though. She's heard far worse, and she's just happy to be out of that care home."

Daniel then invites his girlfriend Sinead round to have dinner with him and Flora, in an effort to make the OAP feel more welcome. Unfortunately, the plan backfires...

"Flora takes an instant dislike to Sinead," giggles our spy. "In fact, she even accuses the lass of trying to poison her! The whole situation is very awkward – but luckily, Daniel sees the funny side of it. He might think twice before planning a dinner party with the two of them again, though."

Later on, Flora sidles up to Adam and asks him about his day – and an unlikely friendship begins to blossom...

"In spite of himself, Adam talks candidly to Flora, and all his pent-up emotions come pouring out," our sleuth tells us. "He reveals the guilt he feels about Aidan's suicide, and how he fears that their feud contributed to Aidan's decision to take his own life. Adam finds it easier to admit his innermost thoughts to Flora – a stranger – and he's touched when the lady offers him some words of comfort

OUR FAVOURITE RECENT SOAP QUOTES...

"A chicken barm please, Yasmeen."

"Did you know that chickens feel emotion? They recognise human faces and respond to kindness and voice... So do you want mayonnaise with that?"
We love the subtlety with which Yasmeen puts her point across.

"I've had two gay husbands, a bisexual fiancé and my ex is on the run. Oh, and I've just been dumped by a tramp. So no, I wouldn't call myself picky."
Poor Bernice – she just needs to aim a little higher than awful Daz!

"I've never sold a motor before."

"It's easy, right? It's like, I dunno, selling crack. Or your body. You ain't got to know about motors, you just got to know how to sell 'em."
It's brutal stuff, but the Max and Rainie team-up has been a real shot in the arm for EastEnders.

"Well, Grant sort of opened me eyes, you know. He's like a beached whale, hoovering up chips. I said to him, 'You've gone soft, it's like you're not Grant Mitchell any more'. And you know what he said to me? He said: 'Don't fight it. Because it will come to you an' all'."
EastEnders' brilliant trolling of Grant Mitchell (now "100 per cent blubber" apparently) had us in stitches.

I think Hunter needs to take a break from girls and have a bit of bro time with Mason instead!

VOICE OVER

Watching Alfie in Hollyoaks react to the voice in his head has been heartbreaking – but actor Richard Linnell is superb in the role. He's made Alfie's anguish just seem so real. I could watch him all day long.

⌚ | Maria

I loved it when Marnie gave him a dressing-down!

The foliage within Lassiter's complex was getting out of control

JANE ATTRACTION

I really hope that Jane will come back to Ramsay Street some time soon – as someone who has watched the show since it began, it was great for me to see one of my favourite characters from the old days. Now we know that she has kids too, wouldn't it be great if her whole family moved back to Erinsborough? And I definitely detected a spark between her and old pal Paul!

⌚ | Winston

I can't believe that dear Mrs Mangel is really dead. She was a true Neighbours legend!

NUMBER ONE FAN

I am writing to you today as my brother Gareth, who has Down's syndrome, absolutely loves your magazine, and has done since he was young. He waits all week then walks half a mile to our local Tesco, where everyone knows what he is going for.

He can't read, but looks at all the pictures.

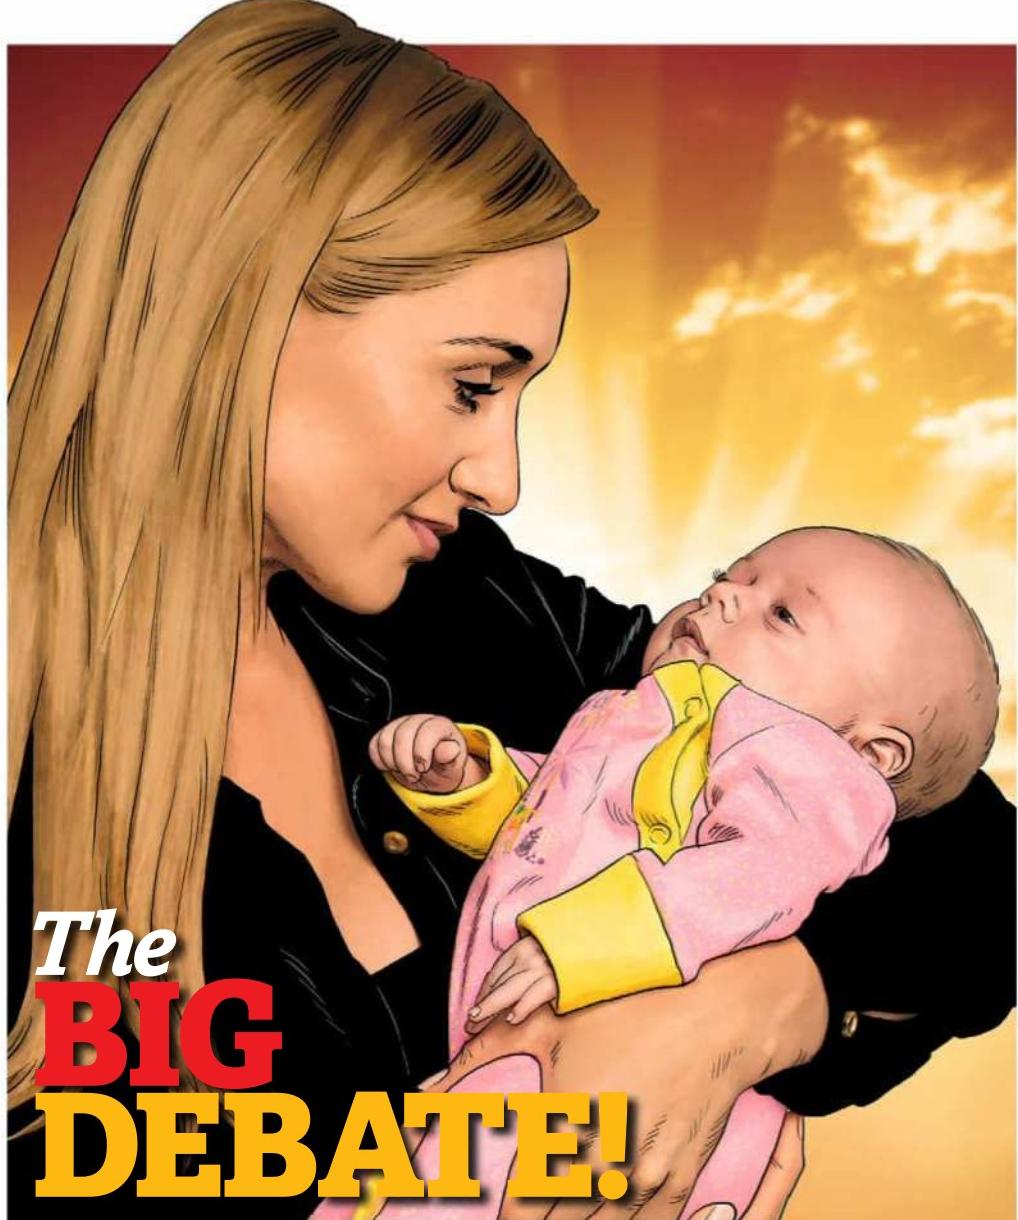

David Platt is his very favourite – if he is on the front of the magazine, Gareth races home to have a brew and look through it back to front. I can't tell you the enjoyment he gets. Such a simple thing. The Christmas just gone, I got him a life-size cardboard cut-out of David – well, his face was a picture on Christmas morning when David Platt was stood in our front room. So funny. He would love to see his picture in your mag.

What a lovely letter – in fact, I love it so much that you can be our joint £25 winner this week!

The BIG DEBATE!

EVA'S BABY ANGUISH

There were dramatic scenes over in Corrie as Eva went into labour early – and Toyah was forced to deliver the baby on the bathroom floor! But will Eva really be able to hand over Susie?

I loved the scene where Toyah had to break through the bathroom door with an axe to get to pregnant Eva – it was like something from The Shining! I'm surprised little Susie didn't take one look at the scene laying in front of her and decide that she didn't want to come out after all!

⌚ | Marjorie

I've known from the start that this whole surrogacy thing was a bad idea, but after seeing the look on Eva's face when her baby was born, I'm more sure than ever that it's going to end in disaster. There is no way she will be able to stand back and watch Toyah and Peter bring up her girl.

⌚ | Josh, High Wycombe

I really thought that Aidan was going to be the one to rumble this whole baby plot – but now I know that he's not going to be around, I do wonder how it's all going to play out. Surely after Eva realises that he's taken his own life, she'll want her baby back – given that Susie is her last link to Aidan?

⌚ | Perrie, London

But some of you can see all sides in this sad story...

I don't know who I feel more sympathy for in this surrogacy saga – Toyah or Eva. It's absolutely heartbreaking for Toyah that she can't have her own baby, and I don't blame her for grabbing this chance with both hands. But you can just see the agony in Eva's eyes as she watches someone else play mum to her girl.

⌚ | Lisa

I feel most sorry for Peter – he's completely in the dark.

THE BIG
interview

The man of the MOMENT

With Stacey, Sonia and Hayley on his alter ego's radar, Walford's James Bye admits that Martin has plenty to mull over...

Having three women battling for your attention would likely be an exciting prospect for most men – but while Martin has Sonia, Stacey and Hayley vying for his favour this week, he's oblivious to just how in demand he is! However, as the reality of his situation becomes clear, Martin is left with a big dilemma. And when we grab James Bye – who plays the lucky bloke – for his take on this tricky situation, he's relieved that the final decision isn't down to him...

Have you been enjoying this contest for Martin's affections?

Ha! I've never really thought about it like that, to be honest. It's certainly the first time since I've been in the show that there have been three potential romantic prospects in Martin's life. But it's too weird to think too much about it, as I know what the outcome is going to be. The main thing is trying to do the story justice for everyone watching.

We know viewers are keen on Martin being with Stacey. But might there soon be a sway of opinion?

It'll be interesting to see if they change their minds once everything kicks off in the coming weeks. All of us – the writers, actors and directors – are trying really hard to make sure everyone is backing all the characters involved. We want viewers to side with all of them, as no one is in the wrong here. It's about what makes sense for Martin at this point in time.

Has Martin noticed that Sonia wants him back?

No! He's utterly oblivious...

Why do you reckon she's been feeling this way?

Because Martin is stable. He goes to work, earns his money, comes home. He won't disappear for the weekend with his mates, and not tell her where he's gone. He's dependable.

Have you enjoyed Martin and Sonia spending this time together?

It's funny – I've been in the show for three-and-a-half years, and have never done a scene with Martin, Sonia and Bex around the same table before. We're doing that all the time now, and it's really good fun. It just feels natural.

Martin's daughter Bex is first to give him food for thought about getting back with Sonia this week. While he's initially chuffed about Hayley's unexpected return (see p4), Martin's put off by all the trouble she ends up in, and is further thrown by Stacey inviting him out for a drink. However, following a chat with Kush, he settles on going for dinner with Sonia – before a text from Stacey makes him head over to the Slater house for a chat...

Has Martin been missing Stacey?

Definitely. I think everyone knows Martin will always have feelings for Stacey – but he's also realised that she's not right for him. She's like forbidden fruit, and she brings out the worst in him in terms of their relationship.

Would Max and Stacey make a better couple than Martin and Stacey, do you think?

It depends which way you look at it. Max and Stacey are more similar than Stacey and Martin – in that Stacey's quite impulsive, and so is Max. But Martin and Stacey balance each other out. So I think Max and Stacey are fine for a fling, but not a relationship.

Is Kush the only one who can help Martin out of his predicament?

He turns to many people for advice, though it's great for Martin that Kush is back. Things get complicated and Martin will struggle with the dilemmas thrown at him, but Kush and Martin have some lovely scenes together.

CONTINUED OVER ↴

"Stacey is like forbidden fruit – she brings out the worst in Martin..."

Maybe Martin would be better off ditching the ladies and making a go of it with Kush instead?

It might be easier! [laughs]

Is it nice having Davood Ghadami (Kush) back after the Strictly tour?

Definitely. He's been away a long time, doing his thing with his sparkly pants on!

Is it your turn for Strictly next?

Well, Davood had a great time on it, and I'd never say no to anything. I don't have the stamina he has, though! I'm just focussing on work at the moment, but Davood raves about Strictly.

Have you missed having Martin's sister Michelle on the Square since Jenna Russell left the show?

Of course. I loved working with Jenna – she's so lovely and an amazing actress. We were lucky to have some great stuff together. We're sad to see her go.

Later, we see Martin arrive at Stacey's, where she finally admits she still loves him – and it's obvious their old spark remains. However, Martin is mortified when Hayley appears on the stairs, and the penny drops that they're related! He realises that Hayley was working with Stacey to prevent him getting custody of the kids – which prompts him to storm off for dinner with Sonia...

Do you reckon that Hayley could have been the woman for Martin?

He had no idea of the real reason why at the time, but when she first arrived on the Square, she gunned straight for him – Martin isn't used to that! Then she disappeared, and it's that unpredictability he was attracted to. However, after learning her secret, he reacts strongly...

It sounds as if there's more drama ahead! Are you excited for it?

Yes, it's really exciting. Martin will definitely end up with either Sonia or Stacey – but it's about where he goes from there. I don't want to say Martin is a simple bloke, because he isn't – he's quite a complex guy. When it comes to emotions, though, it's as simple as he either loves someone, or he doesn't!

Allison Jones

MAKE YOUR MIND UP Martin!

As Martin considers his future, James can appreciate his character's quandary...

"He's never been in love with anyone like he has with Stacey. And along with their daughter Hope, he loves Lily and Arthur like his own. So if there was a chance, it would be because of their family..."

But... "I don't know if Martin can ever fully trust Stacey again. Her fling with Max came out of the blue, and now Martin thinks something like that could happen at any time."

On Lacey Turner (Stacey): "Lacey is my best mate. It doesn't feel like work when I'm working with her."

HAYLEY

"Hayley excites and intrigues Martin, and he wants to get to know her better. She's feisty – and he likes that, it excites him."

But... "The reasons he'd want to be with Hayley are probably also the reasons why he shouldn't! It's a double-edged sword. And Martin finding out her Slater secret will be pretty dramatic for him."

On Katie Jarvis (Hayley): "Katie is a lovely girl who's really found her feet on the show. She's funny and very talented. EastEnders is lucky to have her!"

"Martin knows he can trust Sonia – she won't break his heart. He's enjoying her company, and they have laugh. Plus, he's happy she's been cooking his dinner for him!"

But... "I don't know if they have the spark that he has with Stacey. But maybe he's getting too old for all of that stuff to be important to him now..."

On Natalie Cassidy (Sonia): "Working with Nat is similar to working with Lacey. She's a fantastic actress, and she brings our scenes to life – it's amazing."

“Doug’s too set in his ways!”

DUNCAN PRESTON DESPAIRS AS HIS TIGHT-FISTED ALTER EGO RISKS LIFE AND LIMB BOTCHING THE REPAIRS AT THE B&B...

According to NHS figures, more than half a million people are injured every year while gardening or doing DIY at home – but self-proclaimed gardening and odd-job supremo Doug has no time for such stats this week.

Determined to save a few quid, he tackles a structural issue at the B&B with his own bare hands – with catastrophic consequences! And Duncan Preston, who plays him, is appalled...

“Doug is always confident in his own ability – and not necessarily rightfully so!” he sighs. “If Doug were a friend of mine, he’d drive me mad. But he wouldn’t be my friend! He’s too boring and set in his ways, with no sense of humour. It’s ironic, really, as he’s actually quite funny. Just without knowing it!”

It’ll come as no surprise, then, that fuddy-duddy Doug is typically stubborn when Diane asks him to call a builder to fix a crack above a door at the B&B – with no idea of the horror set to unfold...

“Doug thinks a builder is a waste of money, because he can do the job himself,” laughs Duncan. “A bit of filler – that’s all he reckons is needed. He’s

Can he fix it?
Yes he can!: Doug says he's the only man for the job

not concerned by what he’s getting into – but he’ll be mortified by what happens next if it turns out to be his fault!”

With Duncan sworn to secrecy about what ensues, the veteran actor – famed for roles in Victoria Wood’s Dinnerladies, 90s sitcom Surgical Spirit and a 2004 run in Corrie, as Fred Elliott’s golf club pal Dennis Stokes – can’t hide his delight at having spent the past 11 years working amidst the breathtaking Dales scenery.

KING for a day!

Here's how Doug would rule the Dales...

“Doug’s Queen would have to make him laugh. Someone like Tracy could help him rule, because she’s good fun, and extremely funny...”

EMMERDALE

“There’d be a law declaring everyone must have a good-looking garden – Doug’s very into horticulture! He’d want them to win village of the year!”

“The national anthem would be Norwegian Wood by The Beatles.

It’s not actually about trees, but the title has gardening connotations...”

Reaching OUT

As Doctors supports Mental Health Awareness Week, Letherbridge star Laura Rollins explains all...

This week, Doctors screens a series of special episodes in conjunction with Mental Health Awareness Week. The subject is set to be explored through The Mill team's vital work on the local outreach bus, offering medical advice to those not registered with a GP. And as Laura Rollins – who plays practice nurse Ayesha Lee – reveals, it's an important experience for everyone involved...

"Many of the patients who use the bus have mental health issues," she explains. "Whether that's because they're in a situation where they're homeless, or they have addiction problems, we'll see how these difficulties affect their mental health. Ayesha sees a couple of patients who aren't in a very good place, and it's all about how she – along with the rest of her Mill colleagues – deals with these people, without casting judgement."

Doctors is well known for tackling serious issues head-on, and for Laura and her co-stars, it's a privilege to be a part of these momentous episodes.

"I'm very proud – we really band together and it's a collaborative effort," enthuses the actress. "We have a responsibility to be truthful to our audience. Because mental health issues can affect anyone in any situation at any time, it's essential that we're highlighting them."

"We're not presuming that by showing a series of episodes on television it'll be the cure, but we are raising awareness. If it helps dispel even a little bit of stigma, or helps instruct any of our audience to recognise the warning signs, or approach someone who's struggling, then I think we'll have done our job."

Allison Jones

For more information, see www.mentalhealth.org.uk/campaigns/mental-health-awareness-week

Take issue: The episodes will explore mental health

"The village set is the star of Emmerdale, as far as I'm concerned," he grins. "If I were ever to leave the show, that's what I'd miss the most. I sometimes get on to set early and have a good walk around. I've worked on some beautiful sets in other shows – those thatched cottages in Midsomer Murders are very nice. But nowhere else can compete with Emmerdale village!"

Allison Jones

"Bob would be Doug's court jester. They'd have to get over all the stuff that's been going on with Laurel, but I'm sure they'll get there!"

"Doug would put Eric Pollard in the stocks, as he always gives Doug a hard time. Eric doesn't like him, full stop!"

Crying shame:
Kylie died in David's arms

*"I've got an absolute corker
of a year
coming up!"*

WE CATCH UP WITH FORMER
CORRIE STAR PAULA LANE TO TALK
KYLIE, DAVID'S CURRENT WOES AND HER LIFE-CHANGING FEW YEARS...

The death of Kylie Platt was one of Weatherfield's most tragic moments, sending her widower David into a spiral of self-destruction.

On screen, Max and Lily were left without their mother, but off screen actress Paula Lane took a two-year break to be with her children. Now Paula's heading back to work, appearing in a new play called #BeMoreMartyn – dedicated to Coronation Street super-fan and Manchester Arena bombing victim Martyn Hett. And she's excited to get started...

"It's full steam ahead now – I can't wait to jump back in," grins Paula, who is mum to three-year-old Arthur, and Penny, who turns two in July. "It's been a crazy couple of years, but the kids are a joy. I've found the time I've spent with them extremely rewarding and strengthening. We have created some lovely memories together."

Paula will play Rachel, one of Martyn Hett's close friends, in #BeMoreMartyn. The piece celebrates the Corrie devotee's life, and will be staged to commemorate the first anniversary of the attack which claimed the lives of Martyn and 21 other concert-goers on 22 May 2017.

"As soon as I met the team, I knew I wanted to do this role," explains Paula. "I don't recall meeting Martyn, but I'm sure I did, given what a huge fan of the show he was. The great thing about this piece is that it's made up of real-life encounters and memories from Martyn's loved ones. It's more powerful because it's real – and I really want to do justice for Martyn and his family. This play is a reminder that we don't know how long we are here for, and you have to enjoy the little things in life."

Coronation Street unveiled a tribute to Martyn earlier this year in the form of

Shona good time: David's new girlfriend has helped him move on from Kylie

#BeMoreMartyn: Paula's new play is dedicated to the Corrie fanatic

a bench dedicated to him, as part of the show's extended set.

"Martyn would be thrilled, wouldn't he?" says Paula. "It'll be a nice place for the cast to go when they've got a break in filming – a place for reflection."

Speaking of her former colleagues, Paula hasn't had much time to catch up with them since she and Kylie departed. However, she has heard that things are bleak for poor David right now...

"I can't believe what can happen to one person in such a short space of time!" she gasps. "I've kept tabs on them, and Jack [P Shepherd] is doing fabulous work as David. I know that Max and Lily have got a new mother figure in Shona, which is good for them. Little Harry [McDermott], who plays Max, will be bigger than Jack and me before long!"

There's no doubt that Shona is a worthy successor to Kylie, however the much-missed Weatherfield bad girl still has quite a presence in the show.

"My mum rings me to say, 'They keep talking about you!' and I say, 'Well, I wish I had a fee every time Kylie gets a mention!'" jokes Paula. "The audience likes a girl who's gone wrong but is trying to turn it around, like Kylie. I think Julia [Goulding], who plays Shona, brings something really fresh to the Street."

For Paula, her Corrie memories will never fade, but there's one particular day that will live large in her mind forever.

"I can still feel the atmosphere when we were filming Kylie's death," she shares. "It was really emotional, but there were planes that kept flying over, so we had to start again and again!"

Paula also reveals that she has even more exciting work lined up...

"I'm sworn to secrecy, though I can tell you there are some very big things ahead!" she beams. "It won't be long until the news is out, but I can tell you it's going to be a corker of a year!"

Kate White

#BeMoreMartyn begins on 21 May in Manchester, before visiting Brighton and London. For tickets, visit www.hopetheatrecompany.com

Family TIES

Paula's husband is back in the Street...

Paula's moving on, but her husband, fellow actor Tom Shaw, is about to return to our screens as Fiz's friend Kim. He recorded a small guest appearance last year, and he's already shot another stint as the handsome antique dealer.

"It's a nice connection to have," enthuses Paula. "Tom's had a lovely time being at Corrie, and with a new producer coming in, you never know what might evolve. Tom's also going back to Casualty – it's a bit of a whirlwind having two actors living under the same roof!"

However, Tom and Paula spend plenty of time together, as they jointly run an acting school – The Lane Shaw Academy – in their home town of Hebden Bridge.

"That's kept us busy while I've been on this break," says Paula. "It's doing really well, and we love it."

Grooms with a view!

RAMSAY STREET'S MATT WILSON TELLS US WHY HE'S ROOTING FOR AARON AND DAVID TO GET HITCHED AS SOON AS POSSIBLE...

“This is a huge deal for us, so we're not taking it lightly," says Neighbours star Matt Wilson, who plays Aaron, as we quiz him on his alter ego getting engaged to boyfriend David this week. "If Aaron and David are the first gay couple to get married on Australian TV – and fingers crossed they are – it would personally be a huge milestone for me in my career. It would be such a special thing for me to celebrate and share with my friends."

That dream gets one step closer to becoming a reality this week, as David intends to pop the question to Aaron – but as Matt tells us, it doesn't quite go to plan...

Hi, Matt! Can you talk us through the proposal?

Well, Aaron and David have exactly the same idea to propose at the same time! Aaron's is a bit more spontaneous, whereas David has been planning his for a while. David is full of nerves leading up to the big moment, and just as he's about to do it – bam! – Aaron jumps in and beats him to it! But I don't think David can be too upset about that.

Did you know that the proposal was on the cards, since Australia legalised same-sex marriage last year?

No, not at all. We literally picked up the scripts and were like, 'Oh my God, we get engaged!'. And they were pretty special scenes to film – I couldn't stop thinking about how I was going to film them. You invest a lot more into those kinds of scenes than the run-of-the-mill stuff.

What type of wedding do you think Aaron and David will have?

Beach boys:
David and Aaron
are picking up
good vibrations

This isn't just a normal wedding – it's so much more!

You've also had a big change in the Brennan family, as April Rose Pengilly has joined as Chloe. How's that been?

It's awesome! April is a legend – she's always up for a laugh, so she fills the void left by Travis [Burns, who played Tyler]. April actually snuck into our Christmas party last year, before Travis left, so all of the Brennans hung out together for one night only.

Travis is in LA now – has it made you think about your own future plans?

As an actor, it's always on your mind. Felix [Mallard, who played Ben Kirk] has just scored a huge gig in the States, so when things like that happen you do get excited about the possibilities. But it's a timing thing, so we'll just have to wait and see. I have a lot of stuff to play out with Aaron before I can think about that!

Sand in marriage: Aaron beats David to it and pops the question

“Brody is the love of Damon’s life!”

Hollyoaks’ Jacob Roberts discusses Damon’s search for a soulmate...

In a village where people change their romantic partners more frequently than they change their underwear, we’re glad to hear that there’s one relationship that’s set to last the distance...

“Brody will always be the love of Damon’s life!” chuckles Jacob Roberts, as we join him for a chat about his alter ego’s romantic woes. “No one else comes close to his best mate. I love filming scenes with Adam [Woodward, aka Brody] – and with the heavy stuff that we’ve got coming up, it’s nice when we get to film things that aren’t quite so dark.”

Damon and Brody’s bromance will be put to the test when the truth about Buster’s abuse of Brody finally comes to light – and Jacob tells us he’s gearing up for his character to find out the awful truth.

“We’re having meetings with Survivors Manchester, because this will be a huge shock for Damon,” he laments. “I’m hoping to meet someone who’s been through this, as it’s going to be a hard one for me to play. It’s such a sensitive subject, and I don’t know exactly how Damon’s going to react yet.”

For now, Damon is in the dark about his dad’s abusive behaviour – and the main thing on his mind is reuniting with his ex Holly. So will his latest stunt get her attention?

“They’ve always wanted to go to Venice, so he uses that as a theme to win her back,” reveals Jacob. “He’s gone to a lot of effort – she can’t say no! But then he and Zack get involved in a poker game with Glenn...”

“I do think he and Holly are destined to be together, though,” he adds. “She’s the one for him – they might even be heading towards a wedding!”

Sarah Ellis

Will Damon win back Holly?

10 totally true FACTS about... Tamzin Outhwaite

YOUR InsideSoap BRIEFING ON THE WOMAN BEHIND EASTENDERS' MEL...

1 Tamzin is a true EastEnder, born in Ilford, east London, on 5 November 1970 to parents Anna and Colin Outhwaite. The family also includes her two brothers Kes and Jake. Acting was part of her life from a young age, as Tamzin attended the Sylvia Young Theatre School, before going on to study dance and drama at London Studio Centre.

2 When Tamzin appeared on Who Do You Think You Are?, she discovered her mum's grandfather

Adelmo Santi moved from his native Italy with eldest son Pietro, becoming British citizens in 1957. The Santis established a thriving ice-cream business in Fishburn, County Durham, and Tamzin wishes she could speak their language. "My biggest regret is not learning Italian," she admits. "I have Italian heritage, so I'm keen to go over for a while with my daughters and soak up the culture and the food. I'd like us to learn Italian together as a family – it's something I've been saying for years."

3 Speaking of her Italian clan, star Tamzin has a family connection to her close pal, This Morning host Holly Willoughby. It transpires that Holly's husband, TV producer Dan Baldwin, is Tamzin's cousin and they share a maternal grandmother, known as 'Nonna' to them all. Holly caused confusion when she posted a picture of them together, calling Tamzin 'my cousin', but cleared it up when she explained the blood relationship was through Dan.

4 The actress launched her career in 1990 playing Patty in the stage musical Grease, which also included Neighbours actor

Craig McLachlan (Henry Ramsay) as Danny and pop star Debbie Gibson as Sandy. She had small roles in Men Behaving Badly and *The Bill before landing the part of Mel Healy in EastEnders in 1998. "The very first job I got was Grease – and I got about £250 a week, or whatever the Equity minimum was in 1990," recalls Tamzin. "We got another £90 a week touring allowance – that felt like loads of money!"

5 Her EastEnders audition was a nerve-wracking experience, and Tamzin was convinced that she'd blown it. "There were 20 boys and 20 girls at the workshop," she recalls. "I distinctly remember wearing pedal pushers. The boys were up for the character that Jack Ryder got [Jamie Mitchell], and the girls were up for Mel. I remember very clearly that I was a little late, and I have a phobia of being late. I rushed in, and thought, 'Oh, I've messed this up'. A couple of days later I was at Tottenham Court Road station, and my agent told me that the producer wanted to speak to me. I remember shaking, as he said, 'Where are you? Are you prepared for your life to change?'"

In 2005, film star James McAvoy introduced Tamzin to his close friend, actor Tom Ellis, best known for his work in Miranda and Lucifer. The couple married in 2006 and have two daughters

– Florence, nine, and five-year-old Marnie Mae. Sadly, Tamzin filed for divorce in 2013, citing Tom's adultery. "I'd have given anything to keep my family together," she said, "but it wasn't to be."

Don't be shocked to see paparazzi in tow when Tamzin hangs out with her best girlfriends. She counts All Saints stars Natalie and Nicole Appleton, TV presenter Kate Thornton, singer Mylène Klass and actors Amanda Holden, Tracy-Ann Oberman, Angela Griffin and Nicola Stapleton among her closest pals.

8

After leaving EastEnders in 2002, Tamzin went on to star on stage and screen, even filming Woody Allen movie Cassandra's Dream with Colin Farrell and Ewan McGregor. Her biggest roles included

Sergeant Jo McDonagh in Red Cap, Rebecca Mitchell in Hotel Babylon, Rose Chamberlain in The Fixer and DCI Sasha Miller in New Tricks. "My best friends from New Tricks have to be my three Ls – (Denis) Lawson, (Nicholas) Lyndhurst and (Larry) Lamb, who let me finish their leftovers every lunchtime," she grins.

9 Life isn't all glamour and showbiz for Tamzin, as she's a real home body. Not only does she single out her house as her most prized possession, but she loves making things for it. "I'm good at tapestry and upholstering," says Tamzin. "I did an upholstery course a little while ago and have a brand-new sewing machine with my name on it, ready to start tearing apart the soft furnishings in my house. I love nice fabrics and textures like velvet and silk, and have a special Moroccan corner in my house to curl up and read in."

10 It looks as though Tamzin has found love again now that her boyfriend Tom Child has moved in with her and her two daughters. The 26-year-old actor and fitness instructor was pictured shifting his belongings into her London pad and carrying her adorable Chihuahua and Miniature Pinscher cross, Chipin. Aww!

“Robert and Michelle’s big day will be anything but boring!”

Inside Soap collars Corrie's Tristan Gemmill for the scoop on those wedding whispers...

There's been only one hot topic of conversation in the Inside Soap office over the past couple of weeks – those rumours that Corrie villain Phelan is set to return to the cobbles and gun down Michelle Connor on her wedding day!

So when we chat to star Tristan Gemmill, who plays Michelle's hubby-to-be Robert, about his character's latest dramas, we can't resist quizzing him on what we can expect from the upcoming nuptials. And we're delighted to hear that the dramatic scenes have already been shot – no pun intended...

“Yes, we have already filmed the big day,” confirms the actor. “People often say that weddings can be boring to film, because they’re long days with lots of characters involved. But there are certain aspects of Robert and Michelle’s wedding which make the whole thing un-boring very quickly!

“Just bear in mind what you know about weddings on Corrie,” adds Tristan. “If the viewers factor in some of their past experiences in that area, then they might be on the right lines. It’s safe to say it doesn’t go completely smoothly.”

The wedding is almost called off entirely this week, as the Connor family continues to reel from Aidan’s tragic death (see p8). Given that the clan is still grieving, Michelle feels that postponing her big day is in everyone’s best interests. However, Robert doesn’t quite agree.

Pushing the envelope: Tristan teases that Michelle and Robert's wedding will be dramatic ringer these past few months, in the wake of his testicular cancer and steroid abuse, and wants to prove his commitment to Michelle for standing by him throughout. However, are his issues with addiction really in the past?

“Robert wants to be the best person he can for Michelle – so if she suffers because of his steroid use, that’s enough to make him snap out of it,” reckons Tristan. “Yet he’s still addicted to exercise and being in that shape. So he tries to carry on the same regime, but without the assistance of steroids – he’s taking things to the limit, and that has health repercussions for him. He’s having chest pains, so you wonder if he’s pushing himself too hard.”

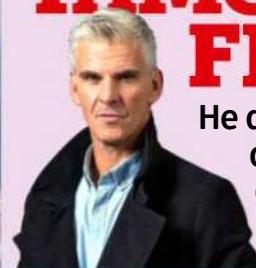

Robert’s gruelling training schedule means that Tristan has had to spend more time in his running gear on screen – although he tells us that it’s not his preferred form of exercise in real life...

Tristan's FAMOUS FIVE

He dishes the dirt on his co-stars...

Pally with Ali: Robert has befriended Michelle's son

"I'm not into running for the sake of running," he confesses. "I'm very into my sport – I play a bit of five-a-side with the lads at Corrie and a bit of tennis. But I need to have a competitive purpose for it, so I'm not good at going to the gym and just repeating the same thing. If I go for a run, I will time myself – then try to beat that time the next day."

When he's not exercising or planning a wedding, Robert can often be found hanging out with his new pal Ali – who's about to become his stepson. And Tristan tells us that he's enjoying his character's blossoming friendship.

"It's an interesting dynamic," he muses. "Robert wants what's best for Michelle, and he knows she wants to get her relationship with her son back on track, so he's keen to facilitate that. But he does quite like Ali anyway – he sees him as a bit of a grown-up, because he's a doctor, so he's someone that Robert respects. That's the basis of their friendship, yet whether that will lead to Ali getting back involved in Michelle's life remains to be seen."

Ali is certainly there for his mum in the wake of her relative's sudden death – and Aidan taking his own life is just the latest in a long line of hard-hitting storylines that Corrie has tackled recently. Although such plots are tough to watch, Tristan insists it's important to get people talking about the serious issues.

"There was a psychologist on set the whole way through the filming of Aidan's story," he reveals. "So if personal issues come up for any of the cast or crew, there are avenues to go down to seek help. But we know we're doing important work, and the feedback we've had has been overwhelmingly positive. Hopefully the Aidan story will help people talk to loved ones when previously they wouldn't have done so."

"When we did the testicular cancer story, there was a guy in Canada who checked himself as a result and found a lump," continues Tristan. "He got it seen to in time and had it removed, and is now on the road to recovery."

"He and his wife are coming to the UK in a couple of weeks and I'm going to give them a tour of the Corrie studios. When stuff like that happens, you're reminded that we're actually doing this for a reason. We're addressing important things which are having an effect on people out in the world – and we feel proud to be a part of that."

Preston matters: Robert has a lot on his plate – but will he confide in anyone about it?

1 Kym Marsh

[Michelle] really makes me laugh! I probably work more with her than anyone else in the cast, and we do have a very giggle-based relationship."

2

"I had a scene with Sally Ann Matthews, who plays Jenny, this morning. I've never really done anything with her before, so that was fun – she's fantastic."

3

"My first ever acting job was with Nigel Havers [Lewis Archer] when I was 12, so it would be fun to work with him on Corrie. I wonder if he remembers me from 30-odd years ago?"

4

"I share a dressing room with Daniel Brocklebank [who plays Billy] and we often have a beer together. He's an incredible human being, and a lovely man."

5

"Harry Visinoni [Seb] is also in our room. He's lovely, but he's still a teenager – so it's like walking into someone's bedroom. I had to tell him off for leaving his cash lying around!"

They ANSWER!

TONY AUDENSHAW

Emmerdale's Bob Hope

...faces your questions!

Emmerdale's Bob has had to answer some tough questions since his affair with Laurel was finally revealed. But how will Tony cope with our readers' interrogation?

“Can you still remember your first day on the Emmerdale set?”

Yes, vividly – and that's not a pun, as it was a scene with Viv! In fact, I was only thinking about it recently, because I had a scene at the café and that's where my first scene was filmed – I was kissing goodbye to Viv after our one-night stand. I was only meant to be there for three months, and now it's almost 18 years!

“Can you remember your first day on set?”

“What would people be most surprised to know about you?”

Probably that I haven't run a marathon for about three years!

I still run a lot and I'm part of a podcast about marathons. So just because I talk about them a lot, people think I'm still running them. The number of 'well done' messages that I got after this year's London Marathon was lovely, but I wasn't there!

“Which has been the best marathon you've ever run?”

The best race is one called the Bullock Smithy, which is a 56-mile run through the hills of Derbyshire. You go through the night, around places like Buxton and Castleton, and it's a bit of a cultish thing where I live. It's just a brilliant thing to do – you part-run it, part-walk it. When it starts to go dark and the head torches come out, and you're in the middle of the night eating a hot dog, it's just magical.

“Which Emmerdale co-star would you like to do more scenes with?”

Bob has a lot of friendships that sometimes get a little bit forgotten, such as with Marlon and Dan, so I'd love to do more with them. But I'll tell you what has been brilliant: working with the kids. Gabrielle and Sebastian [Dowling, who play Cathy and Heath] have been on screen a lot recently, and they're coming on a treat. There's more stuff on the way with them as well. Both of them are really coming into themselves now.

“Which of your former Emmerdale cast mates would you most like to bring back to the show?”

Alex Carter, who played Jamie Hope. I absolutely love Alex, he's a brilliant mate – and I reckon the potential of that character is something that was never really looked at properly. I think he's just such a fabulous

Viv or without you: Bob married the late villager back in 2001

Hope for Jamie? Tony would like his screen son to return actor and so funny. Alex has that natural, comic ability that is often hard to find. It's not always about fancy dress – sometimes you just need actors who can get a laugh out of nothing, and Alex can do that.

"What do you most like to do on a day off from Emmerdale?"

I enjoy going out on my bike – I'm doing a 180-mile bike ride in July. I'm really into birdwatching too, so I love going out for a run with my binoculars, or going out for a bike ride with them, and if I see a bird, I'll stop and have a look. That's my pleasurable time. I've also started drinking coffee quite a lot recently, which is a big part of cycling culture.

"Do you still sing in your band? And who would you most like to perform a duet with?"

The band has had a bit of a break, although we're planning to do some gigs later in the year. We haven't given up or anything! As for the duet, I'd love to say Tom Jones, but I don't think he'd have me after Bob's performance in the Woolpack! The thing is, if you're singing with someone who's very good, you're always going to sound very bad, aren't you?

"What's the best thing about having Lesley Dunlop [who plays Brenda] as an on-screen partner?"

Lesley is such a laugh – she's lots of fun to work with, and a great friend.

It's not unusual: Tony hopes to one day duet with music legend Tom Jones

Raising the flag: Tony has had to do many things that he'd rather forget during his time in Emmerdale!

"What's the most bizarre thing you've ever had to do while at Emmerdale?"

The irony of this story about Bob splitting up with Brenda, and the pair of them having all these troubles, is that Lesley and I have been working together a lot more as a result. Usually it would be just one of us at a time doing a shift in the café, so we very rarely see each other. But Lesley is a fantastic actor – God, she really is

"What do you think you would be doing if you weren't an actor?"

...asks reader Simon Rowe from Birmingham

Variety acts fascinate me –

I love watching a good club act. I can sing, I can tell jokes, and I can do bad impersonations, so I'd be happy doing that. I compere shows sometimes, but when you've been in a soap you have all the baggage that comes with it, which could help or hinder you. But I think it'd be an interesting experience to work at Butlin's or something!

One ELLE of a girl!

THE CORONATION STREET STAR PUTS HER BEST LEG FORWARD...

It's been more than seven years since gawky child Faye Windass arrived on Coronation Street – and boy does that make us feel old! In that time, we've witnessed talented young actress Ellie Leach blossom into a beautiful woman, as proven at the recent NHS Trust Staff Awards ceremony held in Liverpool. The star, who turned 17 in March, showed off her stunning figure in a black thigh-high split dress – and check out those amazing legs! Ellie regularly shares pictures and videos of her tough exercise regime on social media – and it's almost enough to inspire the rest of us to hit the weights and take to the rowing machine. Almost!

ANIMAL ATTRACTION!

We love soaps and we love animals – so we especially love soap stars pictured with animals! First this week were three men with three dogs. Jack P Shepherd (the Street's David) dealt with some mini-presents left behind by little David on the Corrie set, while his co-star Charlie De Melo (Imran) shared more pics of cute puppies – although we're a little distracted by the actor's shirtless-in-dungarees look! And in the Dales, Ned Porteous (Joe) caught up on current affairs with Ralph the giant pooch. But it's not just canines that the soapies have hung out with. Corrie's Tina O'Brien (Sarah) took a cheeky selfie with an alpaca in the Lake District, as EastEnders' Danny Walters (Keanu) met a cheeky monkey in Gibraltar.

SISTERS BEFORE MISTERS

Nothing cures heartache like a bit of girl time – and who better to cheer you up than your sisters? Amy Walsh (Emmerdale's Tracy) enjoyed a spa day at Champneys Tring with her siblings, Kimberley and Sally, following her split from fiancé of five years Bradley Jaden. Amy had kept the break-up private, but it was revealed to all after her ex shared pics of his new love on social media. However, rather than dwell on the split, Amy spent time with her family and taking care of number one. You go, girl!

It looks as if Walford's Max has been introducing his new wife to the family – judging by this recent snap anyway! Actress Tanya Franks (aka Rainie, Mrs Max Branning No 4) was pictured alongside Albert Square icon Lindsey Coulson, who played Max's sister Carol Jackson – and the pair were out in force at a special tribute to the Chickenshed Theatre Company in London. All we have left to say is that we want to see these two together on screen again – so come back to EastEnders, Lindsey. We miss you!

THE WINDSORS ROYAL WEDDING SPECIAL

UK HOPEFUL
SURIE TELLS US
WHY SHE'S MORE THAN QUALIFIED TO REPRESENT US
AT EUROVISION...

Not wanting to name names, but there have been some UK entrants for Eurovision in recent years who, for all their fine qualities, were a little lacking on the experience front – and that can make all the difference when you're preparing to perform to a global audience of hundreds of millions.

That's not an accusation that we could level at this year's entrant SuRie, though, as she's already competed in Eurovision twice – just not for the UK. In 2015 she sang back-up for Belgian singer Loïc Nottet (who finished fourth), and last year she was the musical director for Belgium's Blanche (again, finishing fourth). Now she's finally representing her home nation, and as Inside TV joins the singer for a chat at London's Portuguese Embassy ahead of this year's contest in Lisbon, she tells us that she hadn't even considered Eurovision before the Belgians came calling...

"I'm queen of being the underdog!"

"Before I went to Eurovision, it wasn't hugely on my radar – I guiltily admit that," reveals SuRie. "In 2015, I went out as a backing singer and it blew my mind as to how wonderfully positive the whole experience can be. Being part of the selection TV show in Brighton was nerve-wracking, but it surprised me how much I wanted it. I've been 'false-flagging' in previous years, so it will be good to have a Union Jack in my hand!"

Having been part of the competition twice already, SuRie is aware of the pressure that the performers face, and now that she's the frontperson she's going to feel the weight of expectation on her shoulders this Saturday.

"It's a different level of pressure, but I can handle that," she says. "This is what I love to do and the front of the stage is where I feel the most comfortable in the world – I'm just a natural-born show-off!"

It's been a while since the UK had a result to be proud of at Eurovision (we haven't reached the top five since Jade Ewen's It's My Time in 2009), and SuRie knows that the odds aren't exactly in our favour – but points out she's defied the bookies before.

"I was the underdog in Brighton – the betting odds had me so low that I was barely clinging on!" she recalls. "I'm queen of being the underdog. That's okay because then I can get on stage, do what I know I can do, and hope that people at home can relate to it."

And while SuRie will be in control when her time comes to perform her song Storm on Saturday night, the rest of the evening will be a waiting game – particularly when the results roll in.

"Having been on those green room sofas before, it's a long time!" she chuckles. "Luckily, if you need the loo there's always lovely people who lead you, otherwise you'd get lost in that labyrinth. And they help you get unhooked from your glittery jumpsuit!"

“THE FRONT OF THE STAGE IS WHERE I FEEL THE MOST COMFORTABLE”

SOUNDS good to us!

WE PICK OUT SIX STRONG SONGS
TO LISTEN OUT FOR THIS YEAR...

AUSTRALIA (no wins)

Jessica Mauboy – We Got Love

Last year's Top 10 placing proved Australia shouldn't be counted out even with a so-so performer and forgettable song. This year it's sending charismatic Jessica with an uplifting dance number, so could be hard to beat.

ESTONIA (last win in 2001)

Elina Nechayeva – La Forza

Elina has one of the best gimmicks in this year's contest with cool projections all over her dress, so it's handy that she's got the pipes to back up the spectacle. This haunting number will leave you with goosebumps.

FRANCE (last win in 1977)

Madame Monsieur – Mercy

This one has been gathering momentum thanks to singer Émilie's stirring rendition of a song about Europe's refugee crisis. Heartfelt political songs often do well, but will viewers who don't speak French get the message?

FINLAND (last win in 2006)

Saara Aalto – Monsters

Yep, that's The X Factor 2016 runner-up back with this belter about self-empowerment. Finland hasn't qualified for the final since 2014, but this feels like its best chance in ages – as long as Saara's staging isn't too out-there...

ISRAEL (last win in 1998)

Netta – Toy

This catchy feminist call-to-arms is wonderfully eccentric with all its clicks and clucks. It was the bookies' favourite at the time of going to press – but the pre-contest favourite hasn't actually gone on to win since 2012.

NORWAY (last win in 2009)

Alexander Rybak – This Is How You Write A Song

Cheerful chap Alexander won Eurovision with Fairytale in 2009, and now he's back with this cheesy self-help guide for composers. His charm could make it a real crowdpleaser.

LIFE GOES ON

GEMMA CHAN AND EMILY BERRINGTON DISCUSS THE BRAVE NEW WORLD OF CONSCIOUS SYNTHS...

HUMANS | Channel 4 THURSDAY

The end of Humans' second series left us with a world-changing twist – as the code granting full consciousness to all Synths was uploaded, and the artificial humans gained sentience for the first time. Series three picks things up a year down the line, where human-Synth relations are more fragile than ever and the conscious Synths are living in isolation – but the emergence of a new threat forces them to step out of their hiding place. Inside TV caught up with Gemma Chan and Emily Berrington, who play Synths Mia and Niska, to find out more.

Where do we find Mia and Niska when the series starts?

Gemma Mia is living with the rest of her group of conscious Synths in a sort of ghetto. They're only allowed to live in certain areas in the country so they're restricted in their movement, and some are dying because of lack of supplies. Mia's in a tough place mentally because she's decided that it's her role to try to bridge the gap between Synths and humans. Emily Niska's journey is a bit different because she's gone off to live a proper life with Astrid. So she hasn't been supporting the other Synths really, or their cause, for the whole year. And then there's a terrorist attack on a bar where Astrid works, one of the very few places where Synths and humans are welcomed to mingle together, and that re-inspires Niska to think beyond their own little bubble of their happy relationship.

Niska always wanted the code to be released – is this how she thought it would be?

Emily She didn't think this was magically going to solve everything, but she knew she had to find out what it would be. So I think she has more of an acceptance about it, the fact that things have been very violent and that the Synths aren't living in fantastic conditions. But for her, that's part of the revolution – things aren't going to be perfect.

And how are the humans responding to the outbreak of Synth consciousness?

Emily The human characters are asking lots of questions.

THE WINDSORS ROYAL WEDDING SPECIAL | Channel 4 TUESDAY

HARRY EVER AFTER

THE WINDSORS OFFERS US ITS UNIQUE TAKE ON THE HARRY AND MEGHAN NUPTIALS...

You might have heard – there's a royal wedding next weekend. It's understandable if you've missed it, it's been very low-key, hardly any press coverage. Just kidding: it has, of course, been a cause of great excitement, not least for the creators and cast of Channel 4's satirical sitcom The Windsors, who are back for a one-off special to give us their outlandish take on the proceedings.

"I was absolutely thrilled!" grins Kathryn Drysdale, who plays Meghan Markle on the show. "When I auditioned for the role last year there were rumours that he was going to propose, so in the back of my mind back then I was thinking, 'If they get married, that'll happen in The Windsors and she'll have a dress!'"

There's a whole new wave of Synths that aren't conscious, so it's all about whether the humans opt to have one of those in their homes, given what's happened.

Gemma The magic of Humans is the way that there are these big ideas thrown around about man and machine, but it's all woven into a story that essentially comes down to families. I've always said that the most powerful scenes in Humans happen in the kitchen.

The journey to the altar is always a bumpy one in any good wedding storyline and that's certainly true here, as a pre-ceremony visit to the US to help bond with the future in-laws doesn't quite go to plan.

"They go over to America to meet Meghan's mum," reveals Richard Goulding, who plays Prince Harry. "She thinks it will be a good idea to have the stag do over there, so he ends up in Las Vegas. And in prison. He dresses up in an inappropriate way – I'll leave you to guess where it might go. It's really very funny!"

TRIAL & ERROR

LEE INGLEBY, DANIEL RYAN AND HERMIONE NORRIS STAR IN A FOUR-PART THRILLER...

When a broadcaster puts a show out across a week, we know that means they're really excited about it, so strap yourself in for this gripping new drama.

It opens as David Collins (Lee Ingleby) is acquitted on a technicality after serving seven years for the murder of his wife Tara, a crime for which he had always maintained his innocence. As he tells waiting journalists, he's lost everything: his wife, his liberty and his children – now he wants justice.

"It's not a celebration – it wasn't as black and white as 'you are now innocent', it's 'there's a jury that can't decide, we have no option but to release you back into society,'" explains Lee. "He's an angry man – whether he's innocent or guilty, there are still people that turned their backs on him and lied, and he's determined to oust them."

The one person who stood by David and believed in him was his brother Phil, who campaigned for his release while he was incarcerated.

"That's what attracted me, the goodness of the character – being a complete bastard myself!" chuckles Daniel Ryan, who plays him. "I thought it would be great to play someone with a really good heart, in among everyone else who you're suspicious about."

Beyond Phil, however, there's little support for David in the local town – especially not from Alice, Tara's sister, who took guardianship of his children while he was in prison.

"She absolutely believes he is guilty of murdering her sister," reveals Hermione Norris, who plays her. "She had a complicated relationship with her sister, because Tara told her that she had a violent relationship with David. And she doesn't want to lose the kids, so she's unable to open her mind to the possibility of his innocence."

Brotherly love:
Phil is David's sole supporter

Spinning around

For the final episode of the series, Professor Alice Roberts is on her way to the city that has the most to tell us about the Victorian era – and that happens to be Belfast. When Queen Victoria toured Ireland early in her reign, it was seen as a town of little significance and her visit only lasted a few hours, but by the end of her rule, the population had grown sixfold and Belfast's shipyards were world renowned.

Quite a transformation, then, and Alice is keen to find out how that happened in such a short time. One reason was that the local climate was ideal for the production of linen, so Alice investigates how the industrial revolution made it a major source of employment – and tries spinning flax...

Oddly enough, we're not generally of the opinion that Ninja Warrior needs to be made any harder than it already is, but needs must. We've reached the semi-final stage now, so all of the best competitors from the four heats will be returning for another crack at the course, but it's had a definite difficulty upgrade since the last time they were here. Some will succeed and some, quite frankly, will not make the grade – but who from tonight's selection will be in with a chance of scaling Mount Midoriyama? Join presenters Ben, Rochelle and Kammy to find out...

BRITISH ACADEMY TELEVISION AWARDS 2018 | BBC1 8PM

DON'T Miss!

Top of the box

It's time to hand out more shiny gold faces to the people who made our TV-watching existence that little bit better over the past year. After a sterling job in her debut hosting gig last year, Sue Perkins is making a welcome return as this year's compere to keep the stars in order.

With three nominations apiece, Black Mirror, Line Of Duty, Three Girls and The Crown are tipped to take home a trophy tonight, and it's great to see some long-serving talent like Julie Hesmondhalgh, Anna Friel and Sandi Toksvig pick up their first nominations. But the outcome we'd most like to see tonight is Cruising With Jane McDonald winning the Features category. The "Bafta for Jane" campaign starts here...

Under the bonnet

MIDSOMER MURDERS | ITV 8PM

The works of Jane Austen aren't noted for the number of corpses littering the grounds of the English countryside, which is why it's particularly unsettling to see a young woman in Georgian-era garb meet her maker at the top of tonight's episode. The deceased is Samantha Berry, who was stabbed to death with a quill after slipping away from an Austen immersive event at a country house. Samantha was a journalist who had been asking a lot of questions about the event and the local area prior to her demise – so who was determined to see her permanently silenced?

PATRICK MELROSE | Sky Atlantic 9PM

Benedict Cumberbatch stars in this five-part drama set in the 1980s, based on a series of novels by Edward St Aubyn. Patrick (that's our Cumberbatch) is an upper-class man with a sharp wit and a fondness for illegal substances. After his father dies, he heads to New York to collect his ashes, seeing it as a chance to get clean – but he's underestimated the hold his addictions have on him...

MARVEL'S AGENTS OF SHIELD | E4 9PM

Agents Of SHIELD reaches its 100th episode tonight, and such landmarks don't usually pass without a fanfare, so it's time for Coulson to reveal to the team about the deal that he made with Ghost Rider – and how it affects everyone.

NCIS: LOS ANGELES | Sky One 10PM

Sam and Hidoko go undercover at a cryptocurrency farm – and hopefully they'll explain what one of those is, because we haven't the foggiest. Do the farmhands get paid in Bitcoin? Is there one in Emmerdale? We're confused.

HEART TRANSPLANT: A CHANCE TO LIVE | BBC2 9PM

Heart of the matter

In May 1968, Britain's first successful heart transplant was carried out at the National Heart Hospital in London. Fifty years on from that pioneering surgery, this documentary follows seven people awaiting a heart transplant, and the medical teams working with some state-of-the-art technology to save their lives.

There are still major barriers facing patients – specifically, a long waiting list and lack of UK donors – but a breakthrough may provide new hope for the future. Thanks to a process known as Ex-Vivo Perfusion, doctors can reanimate hearts and keep them alive outside the body for longer. It means donor hearts can be sourced from further away, and also that doctors have more time to assess an organ's suitability – and we see this incredible technology for the first time.

Regional variations

The Cheltenham races mean one of the busiest days of the year for the Western network, as thousands of extra passengers make their way to Cheltenham Spa for a day out. The 0915 service is particularly popular, leaving London as standing-room only – even in first-class, which rather takes the shine off the service for those who paid for some extra luxury. Meanwhile, the team at the Swindon control room has received worrying news about flooding at a crucial junction that could completely cut off the mainline to Cornwall...

PLEBS | ITV2 10PM

It appears the lads are still learning the finer points of business management – as tonight's episode sees them blindsided by a hefty tax bill for the Crown and Toga, so Marcus is on the hunt for a skilled accountant to help them balance the books. Of course, the problems may lie closer to home, since Jason's been bartering drinks with his barber in exchange for free haircuts, while Grumio is far too preoccupied with his discovery of a speedy snail.

SUPergirl | Sky One 9PM

One Worldkiller is bad enough, but three is definitely surplus to requirements. Now that the alien triple threat has united, Supergirl is squaring up for the fight of her super-life. On top of that, she has a difficult favour to ask of James...

BLINDSPOT | Sky Living 10PM

There are just two episodes to go this season, and Jane has to reconnect with her past tonight when she needs the help of an old acquaintance to take down a dangerous alliance. Start speculating as to who it might be...now.

Hannah is summoned from her bed at 4am on a sensitive matter – an extra-marital dating site has been hacked, with its client list due to be published at 7am, and one of the people on it happens to be the husband of foreign secretary

Emma Graham. The prime minister is keen for this to be handled discreetly so as not to disrupt an important state visit, but Mrs Graham (an excellent Claire Rushbrook) is ready and raring to go to war with her philandering husband.

Of course, this means more business opportunities for Defoe's as well (particularly if they can get Mr Graham to sign with them) – but things are tricky there, since Nina is barely speaking to Ruth after learning the truth about her father...

BULLETPROOF | Sky One 9PM

Ashley Walters and Noel Clarke star as a couple of cops from very different backgrounds in this six-part drama that the pair co-created alongside writer Nick Love. Bishop and Pike's investigation is set to change everything after one of their informants is killed, and a mission to sting a crime ring stealing luxury cars leads to one of the team ending up in A&E. But it's when Bishop heads to hospital to pay a visit that things truly take a turn...

THE RESIDENT | Universal 9PM

Conrad's daddy issues come to the fore this week when his estranged papa comes back into his life, while at work he's also struggling to diagnose a ballet dancer who has a mysterious ailment. Elsewhere, Mina lets Nic in on a secret.

LEGION | Fox 9PM

Word reaches us that this season has been extended from 10 to 11 episodes – possibly due to David Haller's reality-warping powers. Tonight, Division 3 are concerned by the return of Busker, who may still be under Farouk's control.

Blood and bandages

St George's Hospital in south-west London beckons once more, as the compelling observational documentary returns for another slice of life-and-death situations from the front line of medicine. The first patient through the doors this series is Maria, who is a high-priority case after being brought in with suspected sepsis – and as nurse Jerry explains, it needs speedy treatment because it attacks the body extremely quickly and they may have no more than an hour to act.

Elsewhere in the hospital, six-year-old Grace has been brought in by her father Ben after her mum found tissue in her ear, while 83-year-old Eve is rushed to hospital after falling down the stairs to her basement. She lay there for an hour and a half until her husband came home and found her – and her ankle appears to be in a pretty nasty state...

WHAT MAKES A WOMAN? | Channel 4 10PM

Transgender model and social activist Munroe Bergdorf hosts this one-off documentary in which she will be exploring our relationship with gender and identity in the modern world. During the course of the film, she'll undergo facial feminisation surgery and also a brain scan as part of a groundbreaking gender experiment. With transgender rights currently the subject of heated debate in the media, Munroe also will be meeting people from the opposing side to discuss their differences. No previews were available as we wrote this, but we're hoping it will be a good one.

JON RICHARDSON: ULTIMATE WORRIER | Dave 10PM

In this new series, the eternally fretful Jon attempts to gain some peace of mind by cataloguing and analysing every worry he's had, in order to determine which of them truly justify losing sleep over.

"This show is the culmination of a lifetime of stress and not enjoying life," Jon tells Inside TV. "It's a massive list of everything I worry about in the world, with each episode broken down by theme of my worries. Some are very personal and some are more global, and we have two guests to talk through some of them each week. Ideally, they calm me down and make me realise I'm stressing too much, but sometimes they just stress me out more!"

Tonight's episode focuses on the home, as Suzi Ruffell and Josh Widdicombe join Jon to discuss improperly loaded dishwashers. Jon doesn't believe his wife Lucy loads it correctly, which might cause him a few problems...

"She wasn't there for that episode," he admits. "She doesn't know it happened, so I'll make sure she is otherwise engaged when it goes out!"

THE AMERICANS | ITV4 12.55AM

The final season of one of the best shows on TV deserves better than this timeslot, but you can't choose the world you live in, can you? Tonight Philip and Elizabeth face a dangerous operation, unlike anything they've done before.

Recipe for success

Anyone else remember The Restaurant? It was a BBC2 series hosted by Raymond Blanc (and featuring a pre-Dragons' Den Sarah Willingham) where would-be restaurateurs temporarily set up their own restaurants, with the winners getting the chance to run a restaurant for real with Raymond's backing. It was fun – at least until the third series, when a format change broke it so severely that the most inept team ended up winning.

The reason for this meander down memory lane is that this new series covers similar territory, only this time First Dates' Fred Sirieix is in charge, and the time frame is more compressed – 12 applicants get three days to prove the strength of their concept with a pop-up restaurant in Manchester. If they make a success of it, some of the restaurant industry's most influential figures might offer a life-changing investment...

ME & MY MENTAL HEALTH | Channel 5 10PM

Regional variations

To mark Mental Health Awareness Week 2018, Channel 5 brings us this follow-up to the award-winning Me And My Mental Illness. People living with a variety of disorders will be talking about how they manage their mental health and the effect it has on their lives. Among those featured are model Lily Bailey, whose OCD means that just walking down the street can be a challenging experience, actor Adam Deacon who was sectioned after a bout of psychosis, and broadcaster Iain Lee, who discusses living with depression since his teens.

THE WEEK THAT WASN'T | Sky One 10PM

Don't you ever wish pop stars or politicians had something more interesting to say? Putting the words quite literally into the mouths of very famous faces, this fast-paced new comedy show does just that, with master mimics including Ronni Ancona and Alistair McGowan giving their take on topical events. Expect to see Kim Jong-un, Putin, Trump and Prue Leith as never before...

THE GOOD FIGHT | More4 9PM

The legal eagles are pretty rattled when they are targeted by Kill All Lawyers – well, as any lawyer would be. But things take a rather more surprising turn when some of their high-profile clients come under suspicion.

BARRY | Sky Atlantic 10.45PM

Not all wannabe actors are baristas by day – our hero Barry Berkman, for example, is a hitman. But in tonight's episode of the dark comedy, he is finding it hard to extricate himself from that life in order to concentrate on the arts.

FRIDAY NIGHT DINNER | Channel 4 10PM

Party favours

In another of those situations that would seem completely ludicrous in any other household and yet makes perfect sense for the Goodmans, it's Jackie's birthday and she's having a surprise party for 44 guests. It's slightly different from other surprise parties in that Jackie knows all about it, having organised this surprise party for herself – but of course, she can't let any of the guests know that, so Martin has to pretend that the whole thing is his work, and then Jackie will pretend to be surprised.

Like everything that happens to this family, it's agonisingly close to being successful apart from one small detail – when Adam and Jonny take Jackie out to "distract" her while the guests arrive, Martin realises he's told everyone the wrong date. So the boys have to stall Jackie for as long as possible while Martin tries to get anyone – literally, anyone – to turn up...

Better together

THE BRIDGE | BBC2 9PM

All credit to The Bridge for not just hitting the reset button last week to get Saga and Henrik back together and solving crimes – obviously, we all know it's going to happen, but being made to wait for it is somehow very satisfying. For now, Henrik's still working with unpleasant Jonas to solve Margrethe Thormod's murder, while Saga is in the hospital recovering from her assault. She wants to return to work, and Henrik wants to work with her again – but Lillian's not so sure it's a good idea. But when there's another murder in Sweden, Saga's skills are going to be invaluable.

13 REASONS WHY | Netflix

The hit high school mystery drama returns for a second season. Upon exploring the aftermath of student Hannah Baker taking her life during the first 13 episodes, this follow-up takes things further, as Hannah's parents sue the school district over the death of their daughter – meaning the Liberty High kids are required to testify at the trial. That means more secrets are set to be revealed...

TAP AMERICA: HOW A NATION FOUND ITS FEET | BBC4 8PM

The Wire's Clarke Peters – whose mum taught him to tap dance when he was a kid – hosts this one-off documentary exploring its roots, and finds out about the unsung African-American stars who influenced Fred Astaire.

LONGMIRE | 5USA 9PM

The crime drama about a Wyoming sheriff returns for its final season, with trouble for Walt on all sides. He faces a wrongful death lawsuit, plus the suspicious disappearance of his friend Henry. Will he be able to find him in time?

IN and OUT

We spin soap's revolving door...

IN NIGEL HAVERS

(Lewis Archer, Coronation Street)

Audrey and Gail's ex-love Lewis is heading back to Weatherfield – and series producer Kate Oates wants to keep him there! "We have Lewis, king of cads, returning," she grins. "I would have him for as long as Nigel would want to stay – as he works brilliantly with Sue Nicholls [Audrey] and I love that existing dynamic he has with mother and daughter!" June

LISA HAMMOND

(Donna Yates, EastEnders)

OUT Fans of Walford's Donna have been as vocal as the lady herself in recent weeks regarding her departure, but Lisa Hammond has assured everyone that her exit is her own doing. "Thank you for all of your messages – you lot are lovely," she said. "I made the choice. Still, bittersweet like everything in life eh?!" Later this year

CARIBA HEINE

(Ebony, Home and Away)

IN Summer Bay is set to get a new bad girl when the mysterious Ebony rocks up! "I love how much pleasure she gets from causing other people pain!" grins newcomer Cariba. Next week

ROSIE MARCEL

(Jac Naylor, Holby City)

IN Everyone's favourite fiery surgeon has been taking time out to recuperate following the stressful few months she's had – but Darwin's Jac Naylor will be back on the ward next month. When she took off, her relationship with Fletch was left up in the air – so could romance blossom properly now? Or is it too little, too late? June

THE EX FILES!

What are the one-time stars of soap up to now?

THE WRONG FOOTE

Former Corrie star Georgia May Foote (Katy Armstrong) has been forced to refute a claim made by ex-cast mate Marc Anwar (Sharif Nazir) that she refused to do a plot in which her character became Muslim. Georgia said: "Again. Fake st stories. As an actress, I would have jumped at the chance to play such a diverse storyline. This was not the reason behind me leaving the show I loved and cherished for five years."

HAIR TODAY, GONE TOMORROW!

He may not have departed UK screens, but in Australia, George Mason has left behind Summer Bay – and marked the occasion with an appearance overhaul. The actor showed off his clean-shaved face and shorter hair – and after a triple take, we can confirm that it definitely is him!

FAULKNER IN THE ROAD!

Ex-EastEnders star Lisa Faulkner, who played Fi Browning for several months last year, has revealed that she'd be more than happy to reprise the role in the future. "I would love Fi to [return]," she said. "You know what, it was great playing her character. I had such a fantastic time and they [the show] left the door open. But gosh, who knows!"

DVD

ACTS OF VENGEANCE

Antonio Banderas stars as fast-talking lawyer Frank in this edge-of-your-seat thriller. Transforming his body and taking a vow of silence until he finds out who killed his wife and daughter, Frank goes rogue in order to get the ultimate revenge.

by KA McKeagney

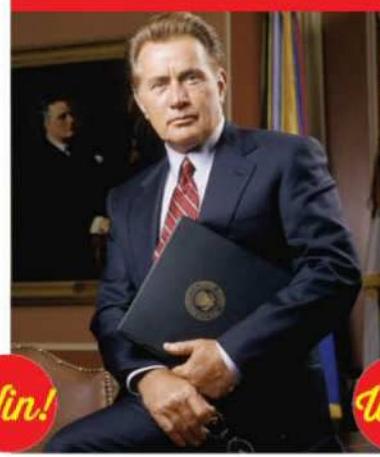

Polly's life is dull – till someone catches her eye on the Tube, and her world is turned upside down. After a frantic online search, Polly tracks down the perfect stranger – but what starts off as an exciting liaison soon turns sinister.

STAR CHOICE

Hollyoaks' Adam Rickitt (Kyle)

"I'm the biggest West Wing fan in the world! I've watched the entire run about four or five times already. I found out the other day that one of the Hollyoaks crew loves it too, so we sat there at work like geeks spouting lines to each other! It made me rush home and start watching it all again."

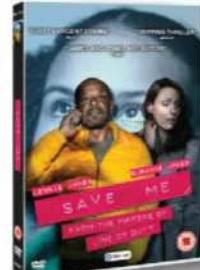

BOOK

WARTIME AT WOOLWORTHS

by Elaine Everest

This is the third moving instalment in the much-loved Woolworths series. Devoted to their families, Maisie, Sarah and Freda are increasingly separated by the war – but will the girls still be able to pull together?

DVD

After their daughter goes missing, Claire is convinced Nelly is guilty of the crime. Looking to the community for help to clear his name, Nelly is hell-bent on finding the perpetrator – and saving his daughter. Starring Suranne Jones and Lennie James.

Nicola's terror!

IT'S A WHIRLWIND OF A WEEK
FOR HER
AND GARY...

There's never a dull moment on the cobbles, and next week sees Nicola and Gary have a very eventful time of it! With Phelan out there somewhere, does he finally choose his moment to strike? Or will someone else cause trouble for them? Whatever happens, life will never be the same again...

EMMERDALE

Loss for Ross?

One thing that has both helped and hindered Ross through his acid attack ordeal has been his love for Debbie. Next week, there's another twist in the tale – but will it be a cause for celebration or commiseration for the Barton bad boy?

EASTENDERS

Teen trauma?

Keegan is keen to entertain some members of the opposite sex, but his hopes for romance could end up being cruelly dashed. Will the lad's high jinks have dire consequences?

HITS & MISSES!

WHAT'S HIT THE BULLSEYE RECENTLY – AND WHAT'S FALLEN WIDE OF THE MARK?

Behold baby Susie's perfectly constructed IKEA nursery! We look forward to Peter smashing it to smithereens once he finds out about Toyah's betrayal.

We're pleased to see Megan merely cutting up Frank's clothes in response to his alleged cheating – rather than framing him for fraud. She's really grown as a person.

Welcome home, Kush! We've missed our time together. Especially bath time.

Leanne's promotion to living at the Rovers suits her so well that she's actually started to blend in with the walls. Just give her the pub, Corrie!

Fancy being downgraded from crying tears over buff Andy Sugden, to crying tears over greasy Daz. Poor Bernice.

Just look at this berk.

If you're popping to the shops, pick us up a copy of the new Snapped magazine, will you?

BULLSEYE!

Has there ever been a Walford pair more toxic than these two? We think not, which is what makes Max and Rainie's alliance so devilishly delicious. The situation is so unpredictable – you just don't know who's going to stab who in the back first! Max's ex (and Rainie's sister) Tanya is surely relieved to be in Devon – far away from the madness. But we're happy to have a front-row seat. Bring on the chaos!

Hey, Jude! You know that simple, wide-eyed, dumbfounded expression you pull? We've finally remembered where we've seen it before.

Kudos to the BBC cameraman who went the extra yard to capture this shot through the legs of a very bendy Bonnie Langford.

Ah, the glamour of showbiz! Portrayed so beautifully by the ever-committed Catherine Tyldesley.

You've got to hand it to Mel. She's giving Jack more of a run for his money than Ronnie ever did. The dialogue between them is very quick-witted and pacey. It's all Jack can do to keep up! (Although, by the look of these scenes, he's managing.)

YOU USE IT TO FACE THE DAY WE USE IT TO FACE CANCER

Self-esteem is important to all women, it just happens to be in sharper focus for those who have cancer. That's the reason Look Good Feel Better exists. We have been helping to combat the visible side effects of cancer treatment for over 20 years through free confidence-boosting skincare and make-up workshops across the UK and worldwide.
